School Board Candidate for 1981 Race Sets Record by Filing 9 Months Early

School elections were held only a month ago, but one candidate has already filed for next year, and another learned this week that he really was defeated March 25 after all.

The new candidate is Allen (Skip) Grossman, lawyer with Smith, Stratton, Wise, and Heher, who lives at 267 Hawthorne and is running for the single Borough seat available in 1981 on the school board He is a member of the Using Schools Effectively committee.

Robin Wallack, who holds the seat, says she won't run for a third term "Six years is enough," she remarked. She said that Mr Grossman has been in close touch with her for the past two months, and was aware that she did not plan to run again. She is currently president of the board.

Michael Stefanchik III, who ran for the school board last month, asked for a recount of the tally by which he lost, 399 to 300, to Hannah Fox The recount, done Tuesday morning, showed the same result. At the recount, in the Mercer County Airport warehouse, where voting machines are stored, Mr. Stefanchik was accompanied by Orren Jack Turner William Evans, school board secretary, represented the board, Dr James Lynch represented the Division of Controversies and Disputes of the State Department of Education

"I'd made up my mind to run," Mr. Grossman said, commenting on his early filing – it's a record, according to board secretary William Evans; nobody has ever filed this far ahead before – "so there really wasn't anything to be gained by waiting for February."

Board candidates receive all the material, except confidential matters, that routinely goes to board members, and Mr. Grossman said, "I want to be as informed as possible."

The early sprinter said he perceived two lines of thought on the present board. "trying to get away as cheap as possible, or giving the best we possibly can, and I believe in the second."

In a Borough Emergency, Call Borough, Not Township, Chief Carnevale Asserts

For any emergency in the Borough the number to call, says Chief Michael Carnevale, is 924-4141 – the Borough police number.

In a story in last week's TOWN TOPICS about the hiring of two paid professionals by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad, Squad Captain Ed Obert was quoted as saying he wanted to inform the public that there is now a single telephone number for summoning the squad. 921-2100, the number of the Township Police.

While that may be true, Chief Carnevale took exception. "It is grossly misleading and erroneous," he said "Borough residents should continue to use their police department for emergency calls "

Chief Carnevale gave an example of why he is concerned Suppose, he explained, there is an accident on a Borough street involving a child on a bicycle If Township police and not the Borough are called, it is conceivable, he said, that a Borough patrol car would never be dispatched.

Council Subcommittee Proposes Several Changes In Parking Rules to Benefit Short-Term Shoppers

All-day parking on residential streets, strict enforcement of meter-feeding, changing some all-day meters to two-hour meters – steps which many might call "drastic" – have been proposed by Borough Council's parking sub-committee to relieve downtown parking so that shoppers and short-term visitors will have a place to park

The parking sub-committee has been working on the problem for some time. These recent proposals grew out of requests made by the Chamber of Commerce -- something of an irony, it has been observed, since many merchants are themselves meter-feeders who park in front of their own shops and remain there all day

The proposals will be discussed by Council at its 8 p.m. work session this Thursday in Borough Hall In mid-May, the public will be invited to comment.

These are the proposals:

1 Eliminate two-hour parking restrictions (Monday through Friday) between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. on all unmetered streets in the Central Business District, and adjacent streets. This would provide 400 to 600 spaces for all-day parkers.

Streets involved are: Madison, Wiggins between Vandeventer and Moore, Library, Boudinot, Morven, Green, Quarry, Lytle, Jefferson, Greenview and Humbert.

The required ordinance would "Sunset"; that is, if it were not renewed in a specific period of time, perhaps one year, parking would revert to the two-hour restriction.

2. Enforce strictly the ordinance prohibiting meter-feeding. In case the term is unfamiliar, "to meter-feed" is a regular verb meaning to run out to your car and put in another coin when your time has expired, thereby providing yourself with an all-day parking slot.

3. Increase the fine for meter-feeding from its present $4 At that rate, Mayor Robert W. Cawley observed this week, the meter-feeder is simply paying $4 to park all day, which is quite a bargain. The problem, the mayor pointed out, is that only the magistrate can set fines.

4 Consider towing away the cars of habitual meter-feeders.

5. Add 90 short-term spaces: 60 in the library lot and 30 in Park Place, by changing all-day meters to two-hour meters.

6. Raise the meter rate on lower University Place, where commuters park, from its present 25 cents for all-day parking, to 50 cents.

7. Reduce the monthly charge for parking in the Maclean Street lot from its present $12, to $5 to encourage use of the lot.

Council also plans to consider redesigning existing parking lots to accommodate more cars. The increasing number of small cars makes this feasible, Council believes. In addition, Borough officials hope the Chamber will consider incentive programs for workers who can find ways for getting to work besides driving their own cars.

Members of Council's parking sub-committee are Nelson van den Blink, Robert McChesney and Barbara Hill.

The Maclean Street lot is a particular vexation to the sub-committee because so few people use its 100 spaces. The Borough is paying $5,000 a year in rent, and not getting much in return. Ms. Hill suggested the lot might have to be eliminated, to save the rent and Mrs. van den Blink said a security system for the lot might be set for winter, when workers leave their offices in the dark.

Mayor Cawley still wants to encourage car-pooling.

"We might give premium parking space to people who carpool," he said, adding glumly, "But the possibilities for cheating are enormous "

"We will need the agreement of the community," Ms. Hill observed, "the whole plan requires close team-work with the police, merchants and the community. The Chamber came to the Borough asking, 'What can we do together?' "

Terhune Extension to River Road Supported by Planning Board

The Planning Board voted Thursday to keep the 1968 Township Master Plan map showing Terhune extended to River Road, and braced itself for public comment at an information meeting next Thursday, May 1, in the Valley Road building at 8 The vote means that the right-of-way would still be shown on the map.

The board will soon have a petition – number of signatures so far unknown – declaring "distrust" of the proposed Master Plan and asking that the scheduled May 12 adoption be postponed six months.

In addition, the Environmental Commission has protested lack of information "on directions the draft Master Plan was taking" because there has been no board member named to be liaison to the commission since December, 1978.

Regarding roads, the board also voted: to connect Stockton and Rosedale east of Edgerstoune, if development occurs; repeated its opposition to a Mountain Avenue - Winfield extension and the extension of Stuart from Cherry Hill to 206; affirmed a connection of Arreton and Ridgeview; decided to keep the West Drive – Springdale link shown on the '68 plan, but keep it "local" and urge its paving, affirm the '68 map showing a "through" Province Line; improving the intersection where Stockton and Quaker meet.

This means the Borough got most of what it wanted It lost the Winfield and Stuart extensions. It had also asked the board to try and have Routes 206 and 27 removed from Federal and state designation. But when member Constance Greiff pointed out that Federal regulations protect such historic routes from widening, the board hastily turned down the request

The board voted to keep the Terhune extension as an ace in the hole in case the state never builds 92-A. "If we close that door, we lose flexibility," Charles Cornforth observed, and Mrs. Greiff remarked that it was unfair to smaller streets in the eastern Township to remove the "loop".

"The loop has been on the map

In Case of Emergency...

"While the Township is in the process of dispatching an ambulance, it's conceivable we might not get a call," Chief Carnevale said. "Our car can go immediately. We need a call so we can go to the scene and begin administering life-saving first aid techniques until the ambulance arrives.

In a lot of cases," he continued, "a victim can he transported in a patrol car and very vital seconds and minutes can be saved."

Borough police continue to maintain a direct "hot line" between the police desk and the First Aid Squad. Police also maintain radio communication with the First Aid center, he said.

Under the present emergency arrangement, especially during the day, the Township does all the First Aid dispatching. When a call comes in for an ambulance, Township police activate a plectron to get first aid personnel to respond.

If a call comes in to the Borough, Chief Carnevale maintains, police can send a patrol car immediately and notify the First Aid Squad.

In short, if there is an emergency in the Borough, police want to be the first to know about it. "We aren't in the business to assume anything," replied Chief Carnevale, when asked if he didn't think the Township police would notify them of any emergency call originating in the Borough.

since '68," observed Mrs. Greiff. "Terhune residents who bought there knew what they were getting into."

The board voted to keep the Terhune extension as an ace in the hole in case the state never builds 92-A. "If we close that door, we lose flexibility," Charles Cornforth observed, and Mrs. Greiff remarked that it was unfair to smaller streets in the eastern Township to remnve the "loop".

"The loop has been on the map since '68," observed Mrs. Greiff. "Terhune residents who bought there knew what they were getting into."

Debating densities again, the board set next Wednesday, April 30 at 8, to hear its counsel, Allen Porter, explain the difficulties of trying to keep land for agriculture, either under zoning or Transfer of Development Rights.

Township Mayor Josie Hall produced figures which showed, she said, that Princeton wouldn't need as many housing units as the board had thought. July, 1978, is the cut-off date for units built since 1970, she told the board. She counted 311 units approved or built since then, for a total of 756 people; plus 246 more people living in flats.

Hans K. Sander expressed surprise: "We had 533 units between 1970 and 1978, then 311?" he queried. Dr. Rose suggested the board take note, but push on, awaiting the 1980 census.

The Environmental Commission has proposed the Princeton Shopping Center, Harrison Street University "barracks" and the Foulet land opposite the Unitarian Church for "conditional high density" housing; however, the commission proposes two substitutes for that concept. One would be to abandon all large-lot zoning in favor of cluster development on quarter-aere lots in return for 60 pereent open space; the other to designate site within high-density zones for low and moderate-income housing by non-profit groups like Princeton Community Housing.

"At last! Now I can recommend a refinish coating for metal siding"

A refinish coating formulated specifically for aluminum and steel siding

"Pittsburgh Paints' research staff took painstaking steps to find a durable, fade-resistant refinish for metal siding. Their work paid off.

Metal Siding Refinish keeps its "new look" for years... because it has a harder, tougher, more durable film than most ordinary house paints. It's easy to apply and it dries to a soft eggshell sheen. Its paint film is mildew resistant, too — important if you live in a hot, humid climate. Available in white and 329 beautiful pastel hues. Stop in soon and let us show you how fresh, new, durable color can be added to your present aluminum or steel siding (on your house, mobile home or metal-sided building) at just a fraction of the cost of replacement siding.

It's like new siding...packaged in a can!

Some Spots on Municipal Slates Are Filled, But Both Parties Are Expecting Vacancies

Two of Princeton's four political components will probably run with short slates in this fall's elections.

Borough Republicans said this week that, although they will still search for "a qualified candidate," they will reach this Thursday's filing deadline with only one candidate for the two Council seats. He is Frederick R. Sidon, 74 Allison Road.

Township Democrats have incumbent Kate Litvack, running for a second term but, so far, no running-mate.

Township Republicans, in a surprise move, announced the candidacy of school board member Winthrop Pike. He will run with incumbent William Cherry for Township Committee's two seats.

Borough Democrats will run two incumbents: Nelson van den Blink and Robert McChesney.

Conflict Could Develop. Mr. Pike's term on the school board expires in May, 1981. If he wins the Township seat, he would have to resign from the school board January 1. The board would then appoint a replacement to serve until the new board takes over five months later, in May.

Winthrop Pike

Two years ago, Borough Republicans faced the same situation they face today. In 1978, Charles Cornforth came forward, filed at the last minute, and won. If nobody files this Thursday, Republicans say they would organize a write-in campaign for the June 3 primary -- assuming they find their "qualified candidate."

Last year, Borough Democrats had no mayoralty candidate. Mr. McChesney was nominated by a write-in vote, but lost to Robert W. Cawley in November. He was then named to a vacant Council seat.

Mr. Sidon, who has lived in Princeton since the mid-1970s, is president of Princeton Strategy Group, a subsidiary of Kepner-Tregoe, Inc., specialists in management development and organization.

Mr. Pike, a member of the RCA technical staff, is in his 14th year on the school board and served as its president for three years. He has lived in Princeton 34 years.

TOPICS Of The Town

MOPED DRIVER INJURED

In PSC Accident. A 16-year-old Township girl suffered broken bones in both legs when her moped collided with a car at the Princeton Shopping Center early last week.

According to police, Jane Gerb, 127 Meadowbrook Drive, exited from along side a fence near the Acme Store into a travel lane and was struck by a car operated by Robert J. Jacobs, 100 Stockton Street. The impact threw her forward. There were no charges by Ptl. David Cromwell.

Julia Atkinson, 22, 27 Witherspoon Street, was hurled over the handlebars of her bicycle last Wednesday afternoon when she ran into the rear of a car making a right turn from Wiggins onto Madison. The front wheel of her bike caught the rear bumper of the turning car driven by Karen Murphy of Holmdel.

Ms. Atkinson complained of pain in the area of her neck and sustained an abrasion of the lower left leg, but refused medical aid. There was no damage to either vehicle and no charges were made by Ptl. Victor Fasanella.

Car Hits Pole. Edward R. Soboczynski, 19, of Groveville, suffered a severe facial injury when his car struck a telephone pole at 12:29 a.m. Saturday on the Great Road between Heather Lane and Cherry Valley Road. He was treated at the Medical Center.

Mr. Soboczynski told police that he had veered to avoid hitting an animal that had run into the road. The front end of his car was extensively damaged.

HAM FAT BLAMED

For Kitchen Fire. Excess ham fat which spilled from a shallow baking pan and was ignited by an oven pilot was the cause of a general alarm fire Saturday at 272 Witherspoon Street.

Ptl. Virgil Angilini and Officer Robert Buchanan responding to a 6:55 p.m. call found large amounts of smoke escaping from the front door and front windows on their arrival.

A teenager, James Mack Jr. of Carnahan Place emerged from the house and told the officers a ham in the oven had caught fire. He was later treated at Princeton Medical Center for smoke inhalation. No one else was inside.

Police report that a tenant, Mrs. Monica Douglas, had been baking the ham in a shallow cooking pan but had turned the oven off at 6:45 and left. They believe the grease spilled over and ignited. Damage was confined to the oven and interior and exterior of the kitchen. There was smoke damage throughout the house.

Firemen were at the scene for approximately an hour. The property is owned by Odessa Thomas, police said.

Brush Fire. There was a small brush fire Thursday afternoon off Faculty Road.

Police said that an anonymous jogger had reported the fire to university proctors. An area of pine needles and trees had caught fire but was quickly brought under control by university personnel. Firemen wet down the area to prevent a flare up.

plained, involving deep digging and re-building of the street. No change in width will be made, he said

He reported that Mercer County has confirmed an agreement to build curbs along Elm when the Borough takes over construction of the east-side bike path. It will be built from Stockton to Cleveland

However, Mayor Cawley said, the Borough has informed the county that it will not begin Elm Road bike path construction until the county has a firm commitment -- that is, bids -- for construction of the bike path on Rosedale from Elm to the Johnson Park road.

THEFT REPORT

Shrub, Tools Stolen. A canadian hemlock shrub and garden tools were among items reported stolen last week by police.

The shrub was one of three that Linda E. Lee, 370 Ewing Street, had purchased and had delivered to her home. The shrub, valued at $25, was stolen during the night.

Four rakes, a shovel, hedge clipper and pair of shears were taken from a tool shed at the rear of a Wilson Road home. Police said the theft occurred between 5 Thursday evening and 8 the following evening.

A Westminster Choir College student lost $85 when her red leather wallet, which she had left on the front seat of an unlocked car of a friend, was taken Monday between 2:30 and 7 p.m. The car was parked in a school lot.

Eight traffic cones and three "bomb" lights were stolen during the weekend from a curb construction site at Hamilton Avenue and Walnut Lane. Police said that another cone was burned at the site.

A student's unlocked bicycle was stolen last week from inside the architecture building on the Princeton University campus. It was valued at $100.

TRENTON MAN CHARGED

With Forgery, Theft. A Trenton resident, John D. Burke, 26, has been charged by Borough Detective William Fitch with three counts each of forgery, receiving stolen property and theft by deception.

Police said the charges stem from December 7-8, when Burke forged three checks at the First National Bank for a total amount of $510. The checks had allegedly been stolen from a Lawrenceville resident.

Bail on Burke, who is currently in the Yardville Correction Center on another charge, was set at $6,000.

William I. Wynder, 19, 15 Shirley Court, has been charged with the April 10 burglary and theft of a Witherspoon Street home. After his arrest last week, he was later released, pending his appearance here in court May 7.

Taken in the theft was a television set and AM-FM radio. Det. James Agins is the complainant.

Student Charged. A Rider College student, Peter G. King, 19, of Essex Falls has been charged by Borough police with possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

Ptl. William Hunter, responding to a 1:20 call Sunday afternoon that a man was lying on the sidewalk at Nassau Street and Palmer Square, was unable to revive the victim, later identified as King. In searching his pockets for identification, the officer allegedly found some marijuana.

King was taken to Princeton Medical Center where, police said, he was treated for intoxication and later charged.

Township police have charged Mark Jones, 19, 114 Witherspoon Street with shoplifting.

He was observed Saturday by a security guard at Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center where he allegedly stole two packages of men's briefs. He also had in his possession, police said, chicken legs and groceries which he allegedly had taken from the center's A&P store. Total value of the items is $13.17.

Jones was turned over to the Detective Bureau for processing and later released.

Fire Engine and Car Collide, Totalling Latter; Alarm Sounded at Princeton Day School False

The drivers of a Princeton fire truck and a small foreign car which collided last week at the intersection of Elm and Rosedale roads have both been issued summonses by the investigating officer, Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt, the Borough's traffic safety officer.

Neither the driver of the car, which was a total loss, nor any of the three firemen in the truck were seriously injured. Ironically, the fire engine was responding to a false alarm at Princeton Day School. Fluctuations in electricity had set off the alarm, Ptl. Lenhardt said, while maintenance personnel were working on a generator.

TIME FOR ACCOUNTING: Borough Traffic Safety Officer Bernard Lenhardt takes notes while investigating a collision between a fire engine and a small car at Elm and Rosedale.

No sooner had the Township desk officer called at 10:06 last Wednesday morning, reporting a cancellation of the alarm, then he received a call from Clifton W. Groover, 47, the driver of the fire truck that he had been involved in an accident.

According to Ptl. Lenhardt, the fire engine from Engine Co. No. 3 on Chambers Street, was going north on Elm. Mr. Groover and two firemen on board, Anthony M. Cirullo Jr. of Humbert Street, and John Gloss, 20 Nassau Street, said that the truck's siren and air horns were sounding prior to the accident and its red light flashing.

Green Light Claimed. The driver of the car, Rebecca Delautre, 25, 20 Dickinson Street, was heading into Princeton from Rosedale. "I came up to the intersection and was going straight through. I did not see or hear the fire engine until it was right in front of me. I had the green light," she said.

Mr. Groover, an employee of the Princeton Sewer Commission, told Ptl. Lenhardt that he was traveling about 30 miles an hour and did not see the car until it hit the left front of the truck.

"When we hit, the emergency impact braking system took over and locked the rear wheels. I don't know what color the light was; I was looking for traffic and did not see the car coming until she hit the truck."

From the initial point of impact in the middle of the intersection, the fire truck continued on another 159 feet before coming to rest against a pole. Mrs. Delautre's 1977 Datsun traveled another 106 feet from impact. There were no skid marks from either vehicle prior to impact, Plt. Lenhardt reported.

He charged Mrs. Delautre with failure yield to an emergency vehicle; Mr. Groover with failure to maintain control of an emergency vehicle.

Narrow Escape. Mrs. Delautre refused medical aid for abrasions of the lower right leg. When her car hit the fire truck, the engine's front tire went over her car rather than drawing it up into the wheel well. Otherwise, her small car might have been crushed.

Mr. Groover of 2263 Princeton Pike, sustained bruises of the left arm and elbow and muscular strain. Mr. Gloss, who was riding along side Mr. Groover and operating the siren, complained of muscular strain to his right arm. Mr Cirullo, facing to the rear in the left jump seat, suffered contustions of the left cheek and muscular strain of the back.

After the collision, the fire truck swerved to the right and flattened 110 feet of hedgerow on the property of Michael S. Mathews, 193 Elm Road. It then bent and ripped a metal Borough bike path sign, damaged a guide wire to a utility pole and snapped telephone wires from another.

The 1973 Mack Fire Truck sustained front end damage and damage to its internal pump and connections, Ptl. Lenhardt said. It was towed to a Mack dealer in Philadelphia for repair. Administrator Mark Gordon reported Tuesday that the Borough is still waiting to hear from adjustors what the repair bill will be.

2 CARS OVERTURNED

In Parking Lot. Two small cars -- a VW and a Pinto -- were turned over last week on their sides while they were parked in the Princeton University Store lot. Police said the cars were owned by students.

A Westminster Choir College student told police that someone threw a rock at his car, breaking its rear window, while he was driving Saturday night on Mercer Street near Springdale Road.

In another act of malicious mischief, a N. Tulane Street resident reported that someone shot a BB or pellet through his window Friday night at 9:45.

Bill Sheibinger, a Westminster Choir College student, told Township police last week that someone had broken the vent window of his car while it was parked between midnight and 1:15 a.m. Saturday morning in a school lot. The glove compartment was rifled, he said, but nothing was missing.

1804 Silver Dollar, Worth $400,000 May Be Seen on Thursday and Friday

An 1804 United States silver dollar, one of 15 known to exist, will be on display Thursday and Friday from 10 to 3 at the S.M. Colavita Coins and Stamp Store.

Colavita manager Larry Van Cleef said that the store purchased the coin, "the rarest silver dollar ever" for an amount in excess of $400,000 as an investment from El Paso, Tex. dealers, Pullen and Hanks.

Approximately one and a half times larger than a regular silver dollar, the 1804 coin was described by Mr. Van Cleef as the most expensive silver coin the world "Anyone who knows coins, knows the 1804 silver dollar," he said.

There is no admission to see the coin. "The public will probably never see it again in their lifetime," Mr. Van Cleef commented Of course, anyone who can meet the store's asking price can have it for their very own.

S.M. Colavita is located at 214 Scotch Road, in the Glen Roc Shopping Center near the Mercer County Airport. It is off Exit 3, Route 1-95.

DESK PRIED OPEN

In Engineering Quadrangle. A locked room in the Engineering Quadrangle was entered by unknown means during the weekend and a locked desk pried open.

Taken, police said, were a coin box containing approximately $20 and 15 undergraduate ID cards. There was considerable damage done to the desk.

A house on Greenholm was entered between 7 and 10 Thursday evening by an intruder who broke a pantry window on the east side. An oval gold pin is missing, police said.

There were two attempted entries reported by Township police.

There was an attempt to enter Princeton Hardware in the Princeton Shopping Center, where a pin had been removed from a rear door. No entry was made.

Lt. Jack Petrone reported that police then discovered fresh pry marks on other stores. "Someone was over there," he said, "but there were no entries. Our men our over there every night."

A Harrison Street resident told police last week that she discovered a storm window in her bedroom had been partially forced open. In checking, she found pry marks on the side and some brackets broken off.

She told police that earlier in the evening she had heard a loud noise at the rear of the house but didn't locate the source. She discovered the open window when she went to bed.

EVENT PLANNED

At Rockingham. The board of trustees of the Rockingham Association will sponsor an informal picnic – bring your own sandwich -- on Sunday from noon to 4 at Rockingham, George Washington's headquarters during 1783.

Members of the association and those interested in joining are invited to the historic site, located on Route 518 in Rocky Hill.

The gathering will include tours of the house and garden throughout the afternoon. Beverage and dessert will be provided and violinist Michael Ward will play. The raindate is Sunday, May 18.

Rockingham was selected as Washington's headquarters while the Continental Congress met in Princeton. He moved there to avoid troop rioting in Philadelphia and occupied the house from August until November, 1783. There he wrote his famous farewell to his troops, and there he entertained such notables as Robert Morris and Thomas Paine. He also donated 50 guineas to President John Witherspoon of the College of New Jersey to show his respect for that institution.

The house has been dated at between 1702 and 1710. It has been moved twice from its original site overlooking the Millstone River. It was opened to the public in 1897, when the Rockingham Association was first founded.

In 1935, the property was transferred to the State to be maintained as an historic site. The Association, which continues to help the state with planning, interior decoration and furniture acquisition, is open to all interested members of the community. The newly-expanded board of trustees plans a series of events such as exhibits, lectures and tours which will further focus on Rockingham as a living museum.

The rose and herb gardens adjacent to the house are maintained by the Stony Brook Garden Club.

DRIVER ASSAULTED

On Prospect Avenue. A 24-year old Princeton resident was assaulted while driving early Saturday morning on Prospect Avenue near Cannon Club.

He told police that shortly after 2, someone threw gravel on his car. He stopped and talked to six men, he told police later, who told him they were sorry. As he got back in his car, someone banged or kicked it and he got out again.

This time he was punched in the face. The victim called police but refused medical attention. Police searched the area for the six suspects without success.

Sign, for People Party

Applications for the May 3 Art People Party -- theme "Celebrate Princeton!" – are available at the Public Library, the Chamber of Commerce office at 44 Nassau and, on the Princeton University campus, at 315 West College.

Deadline for registering is this Friday. You need an application if you want to sell food, play a guitar, do a little mime, dance or participate in any way.

NO PROGRESS REPORTED

In Rape Case. Borough Chief Michael Carnevale said this week that police have no progress to report in their investigation of a Borough resident who was raped April 11 in a parking lot off Witherspoon Street.

Chief Carnevale added that he is still declining to release a description of the suspect because "at this point we feel it would hinder our investigation."

FIVE ARE FINED

In Traffic Court. Five Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Philip S. Carchman in Borough traffic court.

Edward T. Cohen, 76 Herrontown Road, and Harold J. Campbell 3rd, 80 Spruce Street, were fined $24 and $20 for speeding. A late inspection violation cost Peter F. Heck, 6 Courtney Drive, Princeton Junction, $15.

John G. McLeish, 62 Adams Street, paid $35 for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate a vehicle, while Marc J. Coutin, 206 Riverside Drive, paid $15, no insurance.

LEARN TO SAIL

Instruction Offered Sunday. The Carnegie Sailing Club has announced an "open boat" period Sunday for those interested in learning more about sailing and about the club.

Rear Commodore Dan Mazzarella said several members will be at the boat house near the dam at 12 noon with their boats. He invited anyone interested to come before the races start at 1:30, or call him at 924-2097.

He explained that many inquiries from the estimated 100 spectators who watched the races last Sunday indicates spreading interest in sailing as close-to-home recreation.

The order of finish in the races was: (Sunfish) Dick Jesser, Dan Mazzarella and Doug Halbert; (Lasers) Bob Holzman and John Henderson tied for first; Rich Jesser, second and Pete Grosz, third.

LET'S TALK ABOUT
TIMELY TIPS FOR TERRIFIC TREES!! with Sam deTuro
Woodwinds Associates
It is usually our practice to pass advice and information on to our readers covering one specific area of local concern...This week we thought it would be helpful to provide a simple, general check-list of the surest ways to keep your trees at their peak of health and vigor, in future, of course, we will expand a bit more on individual problems

1. In early spring, prune out and dispose of dead and diseased wood (All trees should be periodically pruned and thinned.)

2. Feed regularly, liberally, at recommended intervals.

3. Spray to keep leaves free from insects which defoliate and weaken trees. (Timing of sprays falls roughly as follows: early spring, mid-spring, and during summer months, depending on type of pest.)

4. Avoid changing drainage or water table by construction, laying new sidewalks or new lawns...marked changes can kill a tree.

5. Keep soil around roots aerated. Mulches are helpful to conserve soil moisture and prevent root-kill during the winter, but also in the heat of summer.

6. If leaves wilt or insects riddle the leaves, call in a tree specialist immediately to diagnose the trouble.

7. Keep cavities filled, weak branches and V-crotches should be cabled and braced to prevent storm damage.

REMEMBER: The healthier you keep your trees, the less attractive they are to insects and disease, and the more attractive they are to you and your property value!!

Should you have questions concerning your valuable trees and shrubs, please call WOODWINDS at 924-3500...we're happy to help!

$5 Million from Laurance Rockefeller Assures New Residential Plan University Has Designed

The Trustees of Princeton University have accepted a gift of land valued at approximately $5 million to be made by Laurance S. Rockefeller, Class of 1932. The gift is a contribution toward major redevelopment and restoration of the northwestern corner of the campus (centered on Commons) to permit the establishment of two new residential colleges that will be linked architecturally but will have separate identities.

Mr. Rockefeller, a Charter Trustee of the university, made the gift in commemoration of his brother, the late John D. Rockefeller 3rd, a member of the Class of 1929 and also a long-time Charter Trustee of Princeton.

The creation of the two colleges to be supported by this fund (as well as a third new college to be established in the southern part of the campus) follows recommendations made last year by a campus-based Committee on Undergraduate Residential Life and a Trustee Committee on Social Alternatives. These three new colleges, to be developed mainly from existing facilities, would join with the two existing colleges (Woodrow Wilson and Princeton Inn) in housing all freshmen and sophomores as well as some juniors and seniors.

The Trustees endorsed three general directions last fall, and in January accepted a major gift from Lee D. Butler '22 and Margaret Butler which makes possible the establishment of the college to be located in the vicinity of the New New Quad.

The two colleges at the northwestern corner of the campus will incorporate existing facilities which will be significantly redesigned and restored, including the dormitories in Holder, Hamilton, Joline, Campbell, Blair and Witherspoon Halls. Social and dining facilities for the colleges will be created by transforming the large halls that comprise the existing Commons. Current plans call for Upper and Lower Cloister Halls to serve the college organized around Holder Court, with Upper and Sub-Eagle Halls to serve the college organized around Hamilton Court. A new library facility, located in Madison Hall, would link the two colleges and serve the students of both.

Open House at 'Glencairn' Draws 748

Some 748 individuals bought tickets and signed in the book at the open house at Glencairn last Sunday afternoon.

The Princeton History Project, which collects reminiscences of early Princeton people and places through taped interviews and monthly Townspeople meetings and which publishes The Princeton Recollector, collected over $2,000 at the benefit event. Elric Endersby, director of the Princeton History project, thinks there may have been 800 people in all who came to see the house that was restored by its three young owners and their friends, the 18th century barn taken down from a site in Dutch Neck, reassembled and raised on the foundation of a barn that collapsed on the property, and the restored smokehouse.

"We were overwhelmed," Mr. Endersby said happily. "People came from Philadelphia, northern New Jersey, the shore area . . ." What pleased Mr. Endersby most was that there were "lots" of Opdykes present, from at least three branches of the family. The earliest recorded owner of the Glencairn property was Johannes Opdyke, who moved there in 1697 with his family from Newtown, later Brooklyn.

The property passed from Opdyke to Hunt ownership in the mid-1700's and remained in the Hunt family for close to 200 years. Neighbors who had known Mrs. Elizabeth Gulick Connah, daughter of Mary Ann Hunt Gulick and the last Hunt descendant to occupy the house, were also present.

PHS '70 PLANS REUNION

Seeks Lost Classmates. The committee for Princeton High School's Class of 1970's Tenth Reunion has sent out 340 announcements of the reunion on Saturday, June 14. From a graduating class of 452 seniors, 112 are unaccounted for.

The committee included with its mailing a list of "unreachables" with the hope that they will be contacted by friends who know where they are now living. The committee plans to produce a "1980 Class of 1970 Address Book" which will be given to each classmate at the reunion, and sent to those who cannot attend. It is also hoped that parents of members of the Class of 1970 will do their share in making the reunion a success by promptly forwarding the announcements sent in care of them, and by welcoming their children home for the weekend.

The reunion will be held from 8 to 1 on the evening of Saturday, June 14 at the Princeton Quadrangle Club. Buffet-style food and music are on the program.

Anyone with the address of a lost classmate, or with questions about the reunion is asked to write The Class of 1970 Reunion Committee, P.O. Box 7, Princeton.

GARDEN TOUR SET

By Trinity Church. A Spring Garden Tour sponsored by Trinity Church will be held on Thursday, May 8, from 10 to 4. Proceeds from the tour will help sustain the various programs and outreach efforts of the church.

Tour participants will see five diverse Princeton gardens. Mr. and Mrs. Alan W. Carrick's garden in a limited space features trees and flowering shrubs. A small pool and fountain framed by massed rhododendrons, azaleas and hollies can be seen from the terrace. Formal flower beds and informal peripheral planting offer variety and color.

The larger property of Mrs. A. Fleming Austin features a flagstone terrace with pool and fountain, an herb and flower garden divided into pie-shaped beds bordered with English box, a compact vegetable garden and 120-foot perennial bed which offers continuous bloom from early April through October.

There is a feeling of "country living" as well as privacy in the two-and-a-half acre town property belonging to Mrs. J Richardson Dilworth. A round, brick-walled garden offers a succession of blooms from early spring, and in the middle there is a bronze statue by Dorothea Greenbaum. Further back on the property are a cutting and "nursery" garden and a vegetable garden.

The garden of Walter Lowrie House, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Bowen, is best described as a miniature arboretum. Collected in the mid-19th century, 62 species and varieties of trees are scattered informally over the lawns. For seasonal color there is a small flower garden near the terrace and a small rock pool and waterfall. An Oriental touch is evident in a Chinese moongate in a cluster of bamboos and plantings of Japanese maples, hollies and azaleas.

A high lattice fence and background of yews, rhododendrons, azaleas and arborvitae create a feeling of intimacy in the tri-level garden of "Springseat," the home of Mr. and Mrs. James B. McIntyre.

Trinity Church, at 33 Mercer Street will be the host center for the Garden Tour. A picnic lunch will be served from 11:30 to 1:30, and there will be free parking at the church. Tickets, $7.50, may be purchased in advance at Trinity or at the church or any of the gardens on the day of the tour. Rain date is May 9.

12 ATTEND REUNION

Of Stevens Clan. Last Saturday was, by official proclamation, "Stevens Family Day" in New Jersey.

Close to 200 descendants of Col. John Stevens, their spouses and children, gathered from all parts of the United States and beyond to celebrate their common family heritage at the Stevens Institute of Technology in Hoboken. More than a dozen Princeton residents took part in the festivities.

Organized by Richard P. Widdicombe, Director of the Stevens Institute's Library, as a means of completing the family genealogy and collecting more information on the family and its descendants, the gathering was the first such in this century and possibly the first ever, since the first John Stevens, grandfather of the Colonel, set foot on American soil in 1699.

Among those present were Representative Millicent Fenwick, Mrs. Archibald Stevens Alexander II, and Princeton's Mr. & Mrs. Lewis B. Cuyler. The long distance prize went to a couple from Mexico City, but Phil Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews of Lover's Lane flew from his home in Santa Cruz, Calif., to attend.

Col. John Stevens (1749-1838), who won his rank in Washington's Revolutionary Army, purchased the then island of Hoboken in auction after the Revolution for $90,000 and later built his house on the hill known as Castle Point looking down the Hudson River to the harbor entrance. A man of means, an engineer and an inventor, he built the first locomotvie in this country (now on display in the Smithsonian Institution.

He also invented the screw propellor and built the first steamboat, the "little Juliana" which went back and forth from Hoboken and Manhattan some years before Robert Fulton began to build the steamboat which was to win him the reputation as the inventor of the first steamboat.

A man far ahead of his time, Stevens obtained a charter from the state of New Jersey in 1815 "to build a railroad from the Delaware River near Trenton to the Raritan River near New Brunswick" -- the earliest known railroad charter in America -- but could not obtain sufficient financial backing for his new enterprise until 1830. Stevens also built the first ocean-going steamship, the "Phoenix," taking her from New York to Philadelphia, and invented the double-ended steam ferry.

Those from Princeton who attended the reunion were Mrs. H. Fleming Austin and her daughter, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce H. French and Mrs. French's daughter, descendants of Edwin Augustus Stevens; Mr. and Mrs. Cuyler, Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and their sons, John P. Jr. and Philip; and Mr. and Mrs. James B. McIntyre and their children, Juliana and James; and John P. Cuyler, III, all descendants of Elizabeth Juliana Stevens.

PLANTS AND PLANNING

Featured at Kale's. You can create a beautiful setting for your home with help from Kale's Nursery and Landscape Service. A suggested landscaping plan can be drawn up without charge, using photographs of your home, and plantings can be selected from Kale's extensive nursery stock.

Annuals, perennials, vegetables, wildflowers and herbs are offered for borders and gardens of unusual charm and planting supplies and garden tools are available in the Garden Center.

Or, if you prefer, Kale's will do all your landscaping for you. Landscape architect Herb Sensi, can present a plan that includes landscape construction -- terraces, walks, retaining walls and drainage systems -- installation of lawns, shrubs and trees, maintenance services such as pruning, fertilizing, weed and insect control, and snow removal.

The firm has had 24 years' experience in commercial and residential landscaping, establishing an unexcelled reputation for professional design, quality workmanship and superior planting materials adapted to the personal requirements of each client. Recent projects include the landscaping at Constitution Hill in Princeton and De Laval's new plant on the Princeton Pike.

Trees and Shrubs. Kale's has an excellent selection of the well known varieties of trees and shrubs and many exotic varieties, such as espaliered Hollywood junipers, weeping maples, beeches, white pines and hemlocks, variegated English holly and Blue Atlas cedars.

Kale's also stocks and installs the large specimen trees and shrubs that give landscapes a well-established look. Impressive choices include birch clumps, Callery pears, magnolias, pink dogwoods and a Japanese cutleaf maple 40 years old; large shrubs are vibernums 7 to 8 feet tall, rhododendrons and Japanese hollies.

Broadleaf evergreens include the VanVeen hybrid rhododendrons in white, red, pink and lavender shades, hybrid azaleas in pink, orange or flame red, mountain laurel, Japanese andromeda, English boxwood and American holly.

Yews of all types and junipers from ground cover size to tree size are also available. Shade trees can be purchased in every size from small to very large, fruit trees from Stark Brothers are premium quality, and ornamental trees and evergreens are stocked

Garden Plants. Early garden vegetables to be planted now are oak leaf lettuce, onions, kohlrabi, green or purple cabbage, and parsley. Early blooming perennials include candytuft, mountain pinks, forget-me-nots, bleeding heart, pansies, primroses and bluebells; perennials for summer bloom are delphinium, coral bells, carnations, phlox, painted daisies and columbine. Herbs for seasoning, salads and pot pourri are thyme, marjoram, sage, lavender, orange mint and others.

A collection of wildflowers features lady slippers, trilliums, jack-in-the-pulpit, hepatica, mayapple and partridge berry and almost a dozen native ferns.

Groundcovers are pachysandra, ajuga, purple wintercreeper and Baltic ivy. Ornamental vines include clematis, wisteria, climbing hydrangea, fleecevine, trumpetcreeper, gold flame honeysuckle and bittersweet.

UNUSUAL PLANT FORMS at Kale's Nursery and Landscape Service create interesting effects for landscapes or gardens. Juniper topiaries in pom-pom shapes are shown by Vickie Holleny, manager of Kale's Garden Center. Kale's also has large specimen trees and shrubs, popular varieties of nursery stock and an extensive selection of vegetable and flower plants.

Garden Tools and Supplies. Kale's attractive Garden Center has Snap Cut's hedge shears, grass shears, pruning shears and a 12-foot tree pruner with teflon blades. Garden tools by Tru Temper include trowels, hoes, rakes, shovels, spades, bulb planters and ax replacement handles. Lawn sprinklers by Nelson and Rain Bird, vinyl garden hoses and hose repair kits are also available.

Lawn and garden products proved effective through Kale's landscaping experience include Ortho's line of herbicides, pesticides and fertilizers.

Lawn products by Lebanon, Lofts, and Hoffman and Espoma's fertilizers are also carried. Houseplant supplies include Vermiculite, Perlite, horticulture charcoal and humus, Dexal's insecticides and Jobe's Houseplant Spikes.

The Garden Center has a variety of planters – redwood octagonal tubs and square boxes, plastic pots in a variety of sizes and colors and clay pots in small to large sizes, some with raised designs.

Strawberry jars can be purchased planted or unplanted. Custom planters for specific requirements can be designed and made by Kale's.

UNFINISHED FURNITURE

For Every Lifestyle. Well-constructed, ready-to-finish hardwood furniture at Country Workshop saves snace, adapts to every lifestyle and is an excellent buy. Clean-lined modular units -- chests, cabinets, bookcases, desks -- can be stacked, grouped or combined in many different arrangements for storage and display and a selection of butcher block tables and storage beds is also offered.

The furniture can be oiled, stained, varnished or painted to enhance your room settings, and finishing supplies are available at the store

Country Workshop, a family-operated business with a factory in Newark, has been making furniture to exacting specifications for 30 years. The carefully crafted furniture supplied to the store is made from solid white maple and can be custom ordered in walnut.

Drawers are completely dovetailed and center guided, drawer bottoms are set in a groove on four sides and reinforced with glue blocks, and cabinet tops are joined to sides with a locking joint and glue.

READY-TO-FINISH FURNITURE can be found at Country Workshop where Linda Milstein is co-owner. The well-constructed modular units of solid maple - bookcases, chests, cabinets, desks - can be stacked, grouped or used separately, adapting to every lifestyle and surrounding.

Watt Systems. Wonderful wall systems can be assembled for every room in the house to hold sound equipment, collectibles, dishes, linens, books, toys and supplies. A new drop-lid unit, with white Texolite inside can be incorporated in a system to serve as a desk or bar.

If you move, or your needs change, the units can be regrouped, and because they are solid hardwood, can be refinished for a different look.

Cabinets 16" deep, 16" to 32" high, and 24" to 60" wide, can be purchased with open fronts, plain doors, doors with panels of woven cane, or sliding glass doors. The larger cabinets have one or two adjustable shelves and some cabinets have a shallow drawer at the top and doors below. Masonite record dividers are available for each.

Bookcases are 9½" or 12" deep, 24" to 48" wide with one to five shelves. Chests are 16" or 20" deep, 16" to 60" wide and two to five drawers high. Campaign chests made with flush drawers and fitted with campaign hardware are also available.

Hanging bookcases 12" high and hanging cabinets 16" high, 24" to 60" wide, have a variety of uses. A hanging cabinet with sliding glass doors over a double cabinet makes an attractive buffet; small hanging bookcases at bedside level hold a clock, telephone and other necessities or keep cookbooks handy in the kitchen.

Shelves of ¾" thick maple or walnut, in many depths and lengths, are sold with steel standards and brackets, or floating wood brackets.

Desks and Tables. You can design your own desk using file drawer pedestals, center drawers and Texolite or butcher block tops, 42" to 60" wide, sold separately at Country Workshop. Triangular corner desks with a wooden top and a shallow drawer are free-standing on three legs and meant to be used with a cabinet, chest or table 16" deep and 24" high.

Butcher block tables can be custom made in any size squares, circles, or rectangles in all maple, all oak, or a combination of oak and walnut in a bold pattern of contrasting stripes. A choice of five bases includes an oak pedestal, chrome pedestal, oak "H" base, trestle base and oak legs and apron.

Parsons tables can be ordered in standard widths and lengths and several heights for use as desks, dining tables, coffee tables or end tables. A butcher block top on a cabinet with casters will soon be available as a movable work island for the kitchen.

Storage Beds. Platform beds in cot to king size provide welcome back support, and their three to six drawers equal the storage in one or two chests. Bunk beds in cot or twin size save space in a small room and children enjoy them The bottom bed has three storage drawers; the top bed is a solid wood platform supported hy ladders on both ends and has a guard rail on one side

Country Workshop's famous Tripp Trapp chair with its adjustable seat and footrest is also a boon to children and is sometimes borrowed for a stepladder or stool by adults.

Supplies and Service. Everything you need to finish a piece is here -- brushes, sandpaper, steel wool, wax, Flecto Varathane paints, stains and sealers, and the store's own finishing oil, a mixture of oils and resins. Country Workshop is also offering a professional finishing service through B.M. Rider in Kingston. Your pieces can be picked up, skillfully completed with a custom finish and returned to the store.

Original Pottery. An added attraction at Country Workshop is beautiful stoneware pottery in simple, well proportioned shapes created by Marsha Dowshen, co-owner of Country Workshop. Appealing bowls, platters, mugs and oven-proof casseroles, in earth tones shading into blue, green or natural, can be used for informal dining or decorative accents.

Country Workshop is in the Marketplace, Routes 518 and 27, just 10 minutes north of Princeton. Marsha Dowshen and Linda Milstein are co-owners. Store hours are 10-5:30, Monday through Saturday, 10-5 Thursday and Friday. Send 50 cents for a catalogue of Country Workshop furniture or pick up one free at the store.

In Defense of I-95.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

The continuation of Interstate Route 95 from Ewing Township to Piscataway should be completed as soon as possible. It is very foolish to have such a small missing link of an important freeway between Maine and Florida.

If for no other reason than the conservation of energy, it should be built, not to mention the easing of the burden of traffic on U.S. 1 between Lawrence Township and the Turnpike entrance at East Brunswick, especially in rush hours. The many traffic lights on U.S. 1 are a burden, not only to truckers, but cars alike with continuous stopping and starting and the wasting of gasoline and tires.

The opposition of some of those residing and owning property in Hopewell Township is understood by most of us. Nevertheless, others must be considered. Who is around to speak for the traveling motorist and trucker when these matters are discussed at local public meetings?

As a result of the freeway intersecting Route 206 in Montgomery Township, it will ease the burden of traffic through Princeton by providing a valuable by-pass for those traveling north and south.

None of us would want a highway to go through our living rooms or yards, even though adequately compensated, but progress must be taken into account. Also, it has been proven in many areas that property values increase as the result of a superhighway nearby.

It is time we put aside a few prejudices, get on with the job, and conserve energy.

Library Good for Business.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter I have sent to Mayor Cawley:

I am dismayed to learn that the Princeton Public Library is to be open shorter hours because of budget cuts.

What can be done to increase the hours of operation of the library?

The Public Library is an important Princeton resource:

• It serves all age groups. It can and does play a significant part in the activities of our residents; especially, the young and senior citizens

---

• Would you rather have kids hang out at the Princeton Shopping Center (and similar locations) or in the Library? Although there have been cases of theft at the Library, the Library provides a desirable alternative to persons who might otherwise roam the streets participating in objectionable activities.

• At least in my case, the Library is an attraction which improves business in the Central Business District. Purchases which would not otherwise be made in the CBD are made there because I am already there (at the Library).

What would you suggest to increase library hours?

Park "Politics" Untrue.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was dismayed to read a report of the Borough's budget discussions which indicated that someone suggested Council might have "political" reasons for including the Hamilton - Chestnut Street park program in this summer's recreation schedule.

This could hardly be the case, since this program has been in existence for at least five years and has proven its worth. Four years ago, I trudged through high winter snow to collect signatures from residents of this area who supported the continuation of this program — and gathered nearly 70 signatures without any difficulty. Residents who had children supported this park program, as did the many senior citizens who eat their lunch here as children play.

Every year for three years I collected signatures and appeared at Council budget hearings to help ensure the existence of our vulnerable park program. This year I was pleased to see the Eschers take on this role as their children moved up in age.

I would like to point out that this little park is an "island" bordered by Hamilton Avenue and Nassau Street. To send children who live within this swath of land to the High School or Harrison Street park programs, which would be the alternative, is to defeat the purpose of having any neighborhood-oriented municipal service. Small children cannot be expected to safely cross these streets alone.

To suggest "political" reasons for keeping this program is equally ridiculous. The Borough being the size and shape it is, any way you divide it would provide a healthy number of people "involved" in "politics" of many kinds. That kind of inference is divisive and unfair.

What might be more constructive would be to appreciate the fact that so many people in a small geographic area care so much about their town that they collect signatures on petitions, volunteer to serve on committees and boards, and work together to help Princeton maintain the high level of service for which it is known.

ROBIN WALLACK
29 Hamilton Avenue

A Homeowner's Viewpoint.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

In this era in which the automobile, if not totally "non grata," is at best a mixed blessing, it amazes me that the Planning Board would consider, let alone give priority to, a program of road building. During the recent transportation strike in New York City, congestion drove automobile habituates into "radical" measures -- sharing cars, riding bicycles, even walking. This is not a time for making getting around by automobile easier.

Where would the end come if the auto-worshippers prevail? Perhaps a four-lane highway eliminating the business side of Nassau Street, cutting through Palmer Square, and on through Morven straight to the glory of I-95. That would certainly improve traffic flow.

Of course I'll admit to a vested interest. We all have vested interests. My home, to which I have devoted a great deal of time, effort, and money, is bordered by Dodds, Bertrand and the damnable Terhune.

If this piece of asphalt madness goes through, this will become a near-worthless piece of property surrounded by traffic on three sides. The neighborhood, long-since "grown-over" any decades-old plan, would become a strange, new world with all the appeal strange, new worlds usually have.

And to what end? To get more easily from River Road to Route 206? Is that really the task of the modern era? Are the Princetons to go the way of the rest of the world and make their communities into handy devices for automobile travel (one must remind the Borough folks at this point, a propos of comments made about the Township, that they did vote last year to retain the concept of communities, rather than community)?

Yes, I have a vested interest. I have two vested interests. I am one of those 400 people, referred to by Mr. Walker last week as "a small group," who signed a petition opposing the destruction of our neighborhoods for the sake of traffic flow. My other vested interest is in the concept of community -- homes, families -- as opposed to traffic patterns that move precious energy consumers this way instead of that and to hell with what gets in the way.

I sympathize with those who felt "bulldozed" by Township representatives on the Planning Board. Common sense and the democratic process can be a terrible thing. Once one starts listening to people whose priorities are on a level more profound than asphalt there's no telling where things will end. By the way, we had a presidential candidate a few years back who felt bulldozed. No one has heard of him since.

Those concerned with what is archaic in our communities might spend some time dealing with changes more helpful to people than more roads, such as improving the roads we already have. I've driven on dirt roads in Maine which were smoother than Harrison Street and, say, how about looking into those new-fangled "Walk" signs that permit people to cross the street? Of course, this would inconvenience people driving automobiles.

A Special Person.
To the Editor of Town Topics.

Gordon Griffin's resignation as municipal attorney (TOWN TOPICS, April 9) brings an end to an era in our municipal life. His service to the Township for 28 years and to the Borough for 18 years deserves the gratitude of the entire community.

His wise counsel to and patient guidance of our two governing bodies has been an important factor in providing and maintaining the cooperation needed for the efficient functioning of our community. Most of our joint boards and agencies were created under his legal direction, and they, like the governing bodies, have relied heavily on his advice.

In every community there are some few special people who shape its future. Gordon Griffin is outstandingly one of those in Princeton. We are grateful to him now and speak for future generations in our thanks and admiration.

Moth Program a Success.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

We wish to thank TOWN TOPICS for Barbara Johnson's article on the drive to remove gypsy moth egg masses from the woods at the Institute for Advanced Study. Your assistance in developing community support contributed to a successful program which we hope will inspire other communities and neighborhoods to emulate in mounting similar hand-collection campaigns.

During the past two weekends, 95 individuals, ranging from Girl and Boy Scouts to world-famous mathematicians, took part. In all, 8,791 egg cases were collected or immobilized with a hand held sprayer containing a mixture of creosote, turpentine and transmission fluid. This was used to spray those egg masses that were above convenient scraping and collecting reach.

Egg masses collected the first weekend were given to the state Biological Controls Laboratory to feed gypsy moth predators being developed by the state. This weekend's collection, on the verge of hatching, was burned.

We deeply appreciate the Institute sponsorship of this program and the wholehearted cooperation of Harry Woolf, director; Allen Rowe, associate director for administration and finance; James Barbour, director of personnel and purchasing; and Agillio Ranallo, superintendent of grounds. We are also grateful for the advice of William Metterhouse, director of the N.J. Biological Controls Laboratory.

Through the efforts of all these individuals, we believe that the gypsy moth invasion of the Institute Woods this season has been broken and reduced to a few disconnected lesser pockets. No doubt fresh egg masses will appear the last days of July or early August. It is hoped, however, that when winter comes and the trees are bare, we shall find that these fresh masses are only half as numerous. If the community will respond as it has these past two weekends, and if collecting can begin much earlier, the Woods may be able to shake free of devastation threats.

Annex Restaurant Owners Buy 255 Nassau St.; Turney Motors to Close after 42 Years Here

The owners of the Annex Restaurant, 128½ Nassau Street, have purchased the Turney Motors building at 255 Nassau The transaction becomes effective September 1.

Ercole (everyone calls him Henry) Carnevale, who has owned the Annex since 1966 with his brother, Louis says that he plans to remodel the building and install offices.

The two-story, yellow brick Turney building was erected in the late 1920s as headquarters for a Dodge Brothers car dealership. It has remained a Dodge dealer site to this day. It was purchased in 1938 by Arthur J. Turney, employed as service manager there, when the owner went into bankruptcy.

Richard Appleby, his son-in-law who joined him in 1954, has been head of the business since Mr. Turney died in 1963. Above the showroom are three apartments. Also included in the purchase is a white 2-story house next to the main building, which contains two apartments.

BUSINESS In Princeton

A Restaurant Some Day? Four or five years down the road when his present lease expires, Henry Carnevale says that moving his restaurant to the Turney buidling "is a possibility."

There is room for 75 parking spaces at the Turney location. "There's more space; you could do something with it," mused Henry. "It's the only place on Nassau Street with that kind of parking."

What he would gain in space, he would sacrifice in location. "In this kind of business you just can't move next door," he said.

For the present he plans to stay right where he is. Business is very good, he says. The Annex, with its prime downtown location, offers a large variety of Italian-American food. "We probably have the lowest prices in the area," he said.

Still, he allowed that he is surprised the way things have turned out. "We have a good clientele. We try to treat people right They come back."

Henry has been in the restaurant business all his life, he said, starting at 17 when he left his native Italy in 1950 and came to this country. He began as a kitchen helper at the Princeton Inn on Alexander Street, where he stayed for ten years, working his way up, he recalled, to butcher and cook.

A School Bus in His Future

In 1960, he came to work at the Annex, then owned by a third cousin, Michael Carnevale and his sister. Six years later, when Mike Carnevale decided to move on, Henry convinced his brother, a technician at Forrestal Labs, to purchase the business.

"That's the great thing about this country," he observed "If you want to work hard, you have good opportunity." He is at the Annex, he said, six days a week, sometimes seven.

Future Plans? Mr. Appleby, who has been associated with the automobile business all his adult life, says that he has no immediate plans for the future. A resident of Dayton, he said that he may enter the real estate business

Bill Higgins, the knowledgeable service manager at Turney's, now in his 22d year there, plans to retire. It will give him more time for what he likes to do best: tour the countryside on a motorcycle with his wife.

"My days here go back to 1935," said Martin Reef, the sales manager at Turney's. He recalled that he worked in the service statinn in front that was run by Frank Vaughn.

There were actually three separate businesses, he said: Mr. Turney was head of the service department, Mr. Vaughn ran the gas station while the Dodge dealership was owned by Frank J. Burks, a retired army officer.

Mr. Burks sold Dodges and Packards, Mr. Reef said. "Those Packards were beautiful cars."

In 1938, Mr. Reef left to work for Fred and Louise Mahan, who owned Mahan Motors, a DeSoto and Plymouth dealership on lower Nassau Street where Judy's Flower Shop (360 Nassau) is now located Previously, the Mahan building had been Guinn's Garage, Mr Reef said. It later became Gerber Chevrolet and still later Prince Chevrolet, now on Route 206.

Mr. Reef revealed that he plans to drive a school bus for the Princeton Regional School System after Turney closes. He won't be a neophyte; during World War II he drove a bus for a company in Niagara Falls, N.Y. After the war, he returned to Turney's.

The realtor in the sale of the Turney Motors property was Morrie Click of Adlerman, Click and Co., 15 Spring Street.

TO BOOST PROGRAM Of Discounts for Seniors. The Princeton Senior Discount Program, now two years old, will be revised during the next three months, according to Dorothy J. Kruger, Township Social Services director.

"We realize that many merchants who did not join the program initially may want to now," explained Mrs. Kruger, "while others may care to revise the type of discount they are offering."

Currently, more than 600 seniors participate in discounts offered by more than 64 merchants. The program is available to Borough and Township residents, age 60 and over.

Merchants previously signed up for the program will be contacted by telephone; new merchants will be contacted in person. It is hoped that new discount booklets can be reprinted by autumn.

"Merchants themselves select the type of discount they desire to offer," continued Mrs Kruger, "so by careful shopping and referring to the discount book, our older citizens can help stretch their limited income."

U. Store to Observe Its 75th Anniversary

A retail establishment that's been in business 75 years, gives a sizeable number of its customers an annual dividend and still has on its staff more than half the people who were there 22 years ago, has a right to carry a swagger stick.

An orange and black swagger stick, of course. It's the Princeton University Store, marking this week its 75th anniversary.

The store actually started out even earlier, in 1896 as a student-managed book store in a corner of a campus building called West College. It became a "store" in 1905, when sporting goods and two more rooms were added. The first manager, Robert C. McNamara, later became chairman of the board of Scott Foresman & Co.

In 1908, at the end of Mr. McNamara's three years as manager, annual sales were $60,000. Forty years later, in 1947, they were $1,100,000; last year, $6,241,808.

Operates as a Co-op. About that dividend. The University Store is a co-operative, whose members are also members of the University community; students, faculty, administration, alumni, or members of the Institute for Advanced Study and Princeton Theological Seminary. Other customers have accounts with the store, but are not entitled to the rebate

The year after World War II, the rebate was 12.5 percent, more recently it has been around 7.6, and last year it was 5.4. Your share depends on how much you bought at the store.

Anyone who knew the U. Store in years gone by thought of it in terms of B. Franklin Bunn, manager for almost 40 years -- from 1908 to 1947. It was he who expanded the store until it occupied the entire first floor of West College (the Music Shop was separate, on Nassau Street where Ladybug now is.) Mr. Bunn was succeeded in 1947 by F.J. Worthington, the current manager.

By the 1950's, expansion had burst the seams of West College and U. Store trustees -- students, faculty, administration, alumni and the manager -- decided they needed a separate building.

To the Edge of the Campus. They chose the present University Place site and retained -- naturally -- a Princeton University graduate as architect. It was Eldredge Snyder, Class of 1922. The building was completed in 1958, and the new U. Store opened on September 12.

The opening fanfare, by the way, ended on an embarrassed note. The store had announced door prizes. You could win a Bermuda holiday for two, a $299 Zenith Space Command TV; a Zenith 21-inch automatic TV receiver -- "no wires, no cords, the most unique set in America," or "a wealth of wearing apparel."

Certainly nobody thought of it as gambling, but apparently there was fear that it might be illegal, so all the door prizes were donated to the Princeton Community United fund. "Your loss," said the U.Store announcement, "will certainly benefit the Princeton community."

You could buy, in 1958, a Harris tweed topcoat for $49.50; a Cross 12-karat gold filled pen and pencil set for $12 and a Bancroft tennis racket on special, for $9.95.

Many members of the U. Store staff -- in addition to Mr. Worthington -- were there in 1958 and are there today: Franklyn Barlow, sundries buyer; Elizabeth Boyd, cameras; Irene Brian, stationery; Willy Bullock, radios and TV; Stanley Collins, maintenance; Harry P. Dean Jr., textbook buyer for 40 years; Bill Doan, radio and TV buyer; Itza Barczay, books; Johnny Morreale, buyer for records; Sam Panicaro, receiving; Henry Robertiello, buyer, men's clothing; Mary Rosso, gifts; Richard Swords, TV repair and Robert Walsh, TV repair.

Mrs. Jocelyn Helm, director of the Senior Resource Center, added, "When a senior citizen registers for the program, a temporary ID card is issued. The permanent plasticized card is made available in a few weeks and may be picked up at the Center at Spruce Circle. They are not mailed out. We have many cards here that have not been picked up."

TO MARK 10TH YEAR At Lawrenceville Branch. The Lawrence office of the Princeton Bank is celebrating its tenth anniversary Thursday, Friday and Monday. Christine Lokhammer, assistant treasurer and bank manager, is extending an invitation to friends and customers of Princeton Bank to stop in for refreshments during the bank's anniversary days.

The personal attention Ms. Lokhammer and her staff provide for their individual and commercial customers is thought to be one of the reasons that the Lawrence office has experienced consistent growth.

There are eight offices of Princeton Bank in Mercer County and four in Middlesex County.

OBITUARIES

Arthur J. (Jerry) Horton, 59, of 63 College Road West, recording secretary of Princeton University, died April 17 in New York City of a heart attack.

Mr. Horton, a friend to generations of Princetonians, served the University for 26 years in a variety of fund-raising posts, including executive director of Annual Giving, director of the Development Office and director of special projects within the Development Office. In 1976 he was appointed recording secretary, with responsibility for officially recording and acknowledging all gifts to Princeton.

A native of Brooklyn, Mr. Horton attended Polytechnic Country Day School in Brooklyn before entering Princeton, from which he was graduated in 1942 with honors in architecture. After a year with Boeing Aircraft he served with the Office of Strategic Services and following World War II became secretary-treasurer of the Bulkley & Horton Co., the family real estate firm. Long active as an alumni volunteer, he came to Princeton in 1954 as secretary for class agents in the university's alumni giving campaign.

Mr. Horton took a particular interest in Princeton athletics and for years served as voluntary statistician for the football team. He shared with W. Thatcher Longstreth '41 of Philadelphia a record for attendance at Princeton football games, having seen 272 consecutive contests. He had not missed one, home or away, since the Harvard game of 1949.

In 1978 he received the Alumni Council Award for Service to Princeton. His citation read in part: "In many other quiet ways, Jerry serves this old place and befreinds its people, young and old, the fit and the handicapped. The little window he gave by the southwest door of the Chapel, showing a mother teaching her child to walk, is a symbol of his loving concern. Hundreds of undergraduates, alumni and their families will so testify. As one young alumnus wrote recently: 'Jerry offers to students what he has: friendship, advice, a big shoulder, an even bigger heart, and all the time in the world.'"

Mr. Horton's chief interest besides Princeton was jazz, and he had an extensive collection of recordings from the 1930s and '40s. He was also active in higher education affairs at the national level and was a former chairman of the American Alumni Council and a founder of the Council for Advancement and Support of Education.

He is survived by his sister, Mrs. Harold D. Kennedy of New Canaan, Conn.

The service was held in the University Chapel, with burial in Princeton Cemetery. A memorial service is planned on a date to be announced. Contributions should be made to Princeton University.

Joseph (Jose) G. Chubet, 36, of Monterey, Calif., a native of Princeton, died April 15 of a heart attack in Monterey. He was the son of John P. Chubet and the late Margaret Davison Chubet.

Although born with a severe heart condition, Mr. Chubet led a creative and independent life. He was an abstract painter who had one-man shows at the Kotler Gallery in New York City and at the Pacific Grove Art Center, Pacific Grove, Calif. He began studying art as a student at the Hun School where he had several one man shows.

One of his paintings is on permanent display in the Princeton Public Library. While in Princeton he also became an accomplished guitarist and photographer. In 1966 he moved to Carmel, Calif., seeking a more moderate climate for his health. Of his art he said, "My paintings are like windows into the unknown, inspired by meditation and studies in higher consciousness."

In addition to his father, he is survived by a brother, Thomas D. of New York City, and a sister, Margot Chubet Flannery of Paris, France.

The service was held in Carmel.

Mrs. Mary Josephine F. Maskall of 71 Westcott Road, died April 16 at Franklin Convalescent Center at the age of 96.

While in Knoxville, Mrs. Maskall was active in many phases of the community. Originally a member of First Methodist Church, many of her community activities centered around the work of this denomination. In later years she was Director of Wesley Settlement House and a member of the Second Methodist Church.

She served on the Boards of YWCA, Eastern Star, Business and Professional Women's Associaiton and First Methodist Church. Her life memberships included Eastern Star, Traveler's Aid Society and Ossoli.

In addition to her daughter, she is survived by a son, Charles E. Maskall, of Fresno, Calif., three grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Burial was in Knoxville.

Harry (Hap) J. Kahny, 83, of Cedar Lane, died April 21 at Mercerville Convalescent Center.

Mr. Kahny was a lifetime Princeton resident and was employed as an assistant to the Borough engineer for 32 years before he retired in 1964. He was an active member of Mercer Engine Company No. 3 for more than 45 years and also was a member of the American Legion Post 76 and the Knights of Columbus Council 636. He was a Navy veteran of World War 1.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary O'Kane Kahny; six daughters, Miss Margaret Kahny of Princeton, Mrs. Helen M. Haydon of Annandale, Va., Mrs. Rosemary McNally of Branchburg, Mrs. Jean Wood of Honesdale, Pa., Miss Carol Kahny of Lawrenceville and Mrs. Mary L. Sweeny of Yardley; a sister, Mrs. John R. Warren of Princeton; and 12 grandchildren.

He graduated from Lafayette College in 1932, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma fraternity, and later did graduate work at the University of Chicago. During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army Air Corps and was a member of the CBI Theater.

In 1945 he was married to the former Barbara Drake in Bangalore, India. After the war, he was employed with the New Jersey Department of Economic Development for several years, later transferring to the treasury department where he served as head of the Local Property Tax Bureau. He retired in 1971.

He was a member of the Pennington Lions Club; the Cyrus Lodge 148 F & AM, Scottish Rite; former commander of the Pennington American Legion; and a member of the Hopewell Valley Golf Club.

After 25 Years with Triangle and P.J. & B., Milton Lyon Will Take a Look at California

The reason he's leaving Princeton, Milton Lyon says, "is to restore my identity."

He has directed more than 150 professional theatre productions, going back 35 years to the day he got his first job, right out of Carnegie with his music degree in hand, as vocal director for the Roxy Theatre in New York.

But in Princeton, he seems to be known only as a director of amateur theatricals: Triangle Club and P.J. & B. musicals.

"Actually, Princeton is the only place where I do amateur work," he says quietly.

He leaves May 10 to join the San Jose (California) Theatre Guild which has "a gorgeous theatre with 2,850 seats, an elevator pit and the worst sight-lines ever." He's signed to do three shows -- possibly four -- starting with "California Suite" in October.

"I May Come Back ... "Between shows, his contract allows him to direct elsewhere. He'll be with the two houses of the California Actors Theatre -- in Redwood City and Los Gatos -- and will do three shows in Sacramento, and there are calls coming in from Los Angeles ...

"I may come back to do P.J. & B."

It began when he heard, in New York, a clear, pure ingenue voice -- nothing he could use in "Kiss Me, Kate," which he was casting.

"Singing demands an honesty from the inside. The voice has to be near the 'you', so in musicals there is usually type-casting, and her voice was not for "'Kiss Me, Kate.'"

But she was Gloria Jones Borden, whose brother, Brooks, was associated with McCarter, and so in 1955, Milt Lyon was invited to Princeton to direct a Triangle Club musical.

At the time, he was directing "Max Liebman Presents . . .", a series of TV musical spectaculars -- "I directed Nelson Eddy -- imagine!" and the recollection brings a chuckle. He directed ten of the Liebman specials, in the years before coming to Princeton, and he speaks of them now as "the biggest and most expensive" TV productions of that time.

Milton Lyon

"I May Come Back to do P.J. & B."

After he'd done three shows for Triangle, it was suggested that he might be interested in running McCarter Theatre. No, Milt replied, "I don't want to run a booking house. That's not what the McCarter theatre building should be."

News Of The THEATRES

A survey should be made, he declared, to decide what should be done with the theatre. As it often goes with such suggestions, he ended up with the assignment himself. The survey took him three months.

Students' Needs First. "I said McCarter should be a 'service' arts organization, with the needs of the students considered first, faculty and community second -- and the region last. And the theatre needs of 18 to 22-year-old are interesting, don't forget.

"New York is still Princeton's theatre community, but in that 1960-61 season in New York, there wasn't a single classic for the students to go in and see."

The concept was eventually called "A Living Library of the Theatre," but that wasn't Milt's slogan. He said, "A university is making a statement about what it's providing: what would you want your son or daughter exposed to, in the theatre? A 'service' concept governs your choice of plays. Why are we doing it – 'service' or regional theatre?"

He ran McCarter for three seasons, leaving in 1963.

"P. J. & B. was 'service,' too. We were asking people to sit and watch, but you must 'do' to be healthy. We did the classics because you couldn't find them in New York; why not something for people to 'do' in the same sense?"

"Guys and Dolls," the first P.J. & B. musical -- 1961 -- was a union of Triangle, Princeton Community Players and the Princeton Ballet Society.

"It restored Community Players," he believes, "but the next year, they wouldn't do it without a share of the profits. That's not the idea, I told them. It's a benefit for McCarter, and it gives people a chance to act, at no cost."

Milt believes the concept of McCarter as a service arts organization to students, "changed the day I quit."

Triangle Teaches. Intense about the theatre, intense enough in his caring to work many jobs simultaneously, intense enough about Triangle to discourse thoughtfully about the Triangle productions as an undergraduate teaching tool -- "You learn as much in your assignment as an actor as you would doing Shakespeare, and the performing experience can be as valid in both," and to say, almost in a throw-away line, that Triangle may be peculiarly meaningful to him because of "the children I never had," Milt Lyon is also intense about the future of the theatre.

"The most fascinating job I ever had," is the way he talks about FEDAPT: the Foundation for the Extension and Development of the American Professional Theatre.

"If you need help in management or technical areas, you call the National Endowment in Washington -- one of our sponsors -- and they refer you to us. I ran FEDAPT for three years, was president of its board for six more. Nobody had been doing anything about the future of the theatre!"

He was into everything.

Lyon to California

Norman Cousins invited him to represent Drama at a White House Arts Conference. He was in on the founding of Fords Theatre. From "Knowing Nothing!" about Washington, D.C., he learned quite a lot.

But all the time he's been learning, he's been teaching and working. TV spectaculars and running McCarter are only two aspects of his professional experience. He is voice coach, teacher, director (a kind of teaching). He's been manager, entrepreneor, writer.

In 1950, he put together a nightclub act, "The MADemoiselles," that "zoomed!" into the Blue Angel. He packaged summer musicals for theatres that couldn't afford to start up from scratch. He had three simultaneous nightclub acts, and used to cover Vanguard Blue Angel and Park Avenue, climbing in and out of his car commuting to each, each evening.

"That sounds like me! Nobody else would do that," he grins.

"An Interpreter." For 12 years, he was with the Sacramento Music Circus, "the only professional theatre sent overseas by the State Department in the 20 years between 1960 and 1980," he says with pride, "they chose me as director and I loved it!

"I have written and sold, but I don't consider myself a writer. I'm an interpreter; my gods are the authors and I try to protect the author."

It's the same with cooking and tennis. He loves and knows cooking but he says he isn't an innovatnr. He talked, for this interview, in his apartment kitchen as producer and director of a smash hit: a flawless loaf of French bread, whose baking aroma was as intoxicating as the smell of grease-paint. He's baking a lot now, because it's cheaper to bake bread than move the flour to California.

In tennis, "I'm not a player. I'm a fairly good duffer. I am very particular, you see, about words."

The Changing Scene. He says, "I'm hard to get along with," but the friends....! A member of Community Players laments, "I'm losing my tennis partner, my bridge partner, my colleague, my friend!"

The loss to Triangle and P.J.&B. is impossible to calculate. Where is there another pro like Milt Lyon? Right now, with the opening next week, Triangle absorbs his time and thoughts.

There's a phone call from Triangle while the bread is baking: "....it's just not a first-act finale. A fine number, but just doesn't work out ... well, you see, it involves the Triangle budget: can it be done wearing their own clothes? it shouldn't be 'funny'; it should simply be an actor in costume...it worked better last night at rehearsal, worked gang-busters better!

"Benny Bunn said 'the only important thing is what they learn,' " Milt says thoughtfully, after he hangs up. B. Franklin Bunn was graduate treasurer of Triangle for 50 years.

"Triangle isn't a club, it's a theatre organization. And it's more popular than ever -- 2,300 students saw the show last year. That's almost half the student body and more than "Usually, I've had 35 to 50 students try out. Last year, I had 175; this year, 145.

"Audiences come, not solely to be entertained, but to see what new talent is arising, in material and ideas. If there is only one marvellous piece of writing, it's worth it. The students get a chance to be heard. There is 'good' and 'bad' in both amateur and professional theatre," this professional says, "one is not less than the other."

'MISER' ON TOUR

With Bank Sponsorship. What better play could a bank sponsor than "The Miser"! McCarter Theatre's production of the Moliere comedy is being sponsored for two performances in Princeton schools by the First National Bank of Princeton.

One performance was staged at Princeton Day School April 15, and another has been scheduled for Monday, May 5 (10 a.m.) at Princeton High School. "The Miser" played McCarter from January 22 through February 10.

Eventually, the company will give "The Miser" at 36 places in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Delaware and Maryland, chiefly to audiences of students. The theatre has prepared study guides for schools.

"There is special delight in touring 'The Miser,'" says McCarter's artistic director, Nagle Jackson, "because Moliere's career began and bloomed in the atmosphere of a touring theatre company. He fashioned his farces for his own band of strolling players, taking them to marketplaces, fairs and so on.

"Here we are, 300 years later, sending our own company of players — not strolling, perhaps, but just as mobile — out to the many potential playing areas of this part of the world."

Mr. Jackson says that every writer of situation comedy has borrowed from "The Miser," using Moliere's timeless themes of a father against his children, a miser against the loss of his money, and reason against selfishness and folly.

"It is a play whose story is instantly accessible to all backgrounds and all ages. It is simply a very, very funny play by the master of comedy himself."

....ON ITS WAY

Triangle Show. Only a week to go. That's what they're saying in the Triangle rehearsal rooms for the 91st annual Triangle Club show, "From Here to Hilarity," which will have its gala, grand premiere at McCarter Theatre on Thursday, May 1 at 7:30. (Performances Friday and Saturday will be at 8:30, but Sunday, May 4, will revert to 7:30).

After this four-performance opener, "From Here to Hilarity" will be back Friday, June 6 at 8:30 and Saturday, June 7 at 8 and 10.

The show is an original musical revue written and produced entirely by Princeton University undergraduates, with songs, skits and spoofs of undergraduate life. The highlight of this show is a golden tribute to McCarter Tehatre's golden anniversary. McCarter was originally built for Triangle Club.

Milton Lyon is directing, and Haila Strauss is choreographer.

'10'

At Playhouse. Bo Derek, who rates "11" out of a possible "10," will be on the Playhouse screen in "10," starting this Thursday and continuing through next Wednesday. In the companion feature, Richard Dreyfuss will show audiences his Academy-Award performance in "The Goodbye Girl."

What's in a Name?
Hudibras is the name given to a fictional character from the pen of poet Samuel Butler of London, in 1666. Mr. Butler also knighted Sir Hudibras in his epic poem for deeds wrought by being a dreamer of a better lifestyle for his fellow serfs. Although maligned, Sir Hudibras rode about the countryside bringing laughter, joy and new hope to the otherwise unhappy and downtrodden.
Today, over 300 years later, the spirit of Sir Hudibras still lives on at Hudibras in Princeton. Not just another restaurant or lounge but an attitude towards all who enter to make their lives more enjoyable; filled with fineness and laughter.

Players' Rodgers and Hart Revue Enjoyable But Cruises Like 'a Ship Without a Rudder'

One of the many laments sung in The Princeton Community Players' revue of Rodgers and Hart is about being alone and at sea, a "ship without a sail." My principal lament about PCP's show is that it often seemed like a ship without a rudder.

Director Donn Gordon has paced his production at a furious clip, a wise decision since he has crammed some 60 songs (or snatches) into one evening. I don't think he need worry about holding onto his audience, though the audience might do well to hang onto their life preservers, for the show races wildly in no single direction, this way and that, like a boat let loose on seas with strong and variable winds. I would have appreciated more steering than was afforded by the short biographical interludes, and wish that some of the reefs -- unexciting, repetitive numbers -- had been avoided.

Colleen A. Thompson and Randy Lee Sutton are one of the many couples in and out of love in Community Players' musical revue, "Rodgers and Hart."

(Gary Spector photo)

The vessel might have shipwrecked if an anchor hadn't been on board; fortunately, Bob Culleton serves this function ably. He not only adds sparkle to his renditions of numbers like "Way Out West on West End Avenue" and "Mimi," but also provides some much-needed continuity with his narration about Lorenz Hart.

Many of the 550 songs that Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart wrote together over the course of their 22-year collaboration are about unrequited love, lost love, no love, and loneliness. There are some exuberant numbers, to be sure, but PCP's show highlights most interestingly the despondency that Hart gave expression to first in his lyrics and ultimately in his alcoholism and his break with Rodgers, who later went on to produce such masterpieces as "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific" with a second partner, Oscar Hammerstein.

Research Made Easy. Although the Players have neglected to list the numbers and the shows from which they were culled in the program, I was able to learn the names and origin of many of them from the brochure of Princeton Inn College Theatre, whose production of a somewhat pared down and rearranged version of the same revue happens to coincide with PCP's. One of the surprises of "Rodgers and Hart" is how few of the titles, written in the '20s and '30s are familiar; Hammerstein's lyrics are far better known to me than Hart's.

Still, the show has a few old favorites, including "This Can't Be Love," "The Lady is a Tramp," "Bewitched, Bothered, and Bewildered" -- not to mention "Blue Moon" and its amusing early drafts that begin "Oh Lord!" and "Act One!", prudently scrapped by the composers and superseded by the now famous version.

Lesser-Known Numbers. This is not to say that the unfamiliar tunes are a total disappointment. Dorothy Edwards gives an excellent renditinn of the heroine who kills spouse after spouse in "To Keep My Love Alive," and Colleen A. Thompson is charming in almost all her numbers; one that comes to mind is "I Married an Angel," which, interestingly, is sung by a male in Princeton Inn College Theatre's production.

Eight of the ten members of the talented cast appeared in PJ&B's "Can-Can" this winter. The war-between-the-sexes is well fought by Derry Light, while Deborah Du Gan is best in sultry numbers and Randy Lee Sutton is strongest in the serious and sentimental songs. Jack Friedel shows Sheila Clark's choreography to best advantage in the tight space. David Schaeffer, Jack Gwin, and Bonnie R. Brown complete the cast.

The clever set, a stage in the shape of a grand piano, is by John Schenck. Stuart Hall is the somewhat restrained drummer, and Dick Swain the musical director and pianist who chimes in with a few asides every so often.

PCP's celebration of Rodgers and Hart will continue at the Broadmead Theatre for the next two weekends. Although the navigation leaves something to be desired and it's rough going in spots, for a compressed and often entertaining overview of Hart's career, I would recommend climbing aboard.

—Heller McAlpin

performance piece, "Have Trouble, Will Travel," by Herb Schapiro, based on the life and works of Saul Alinsky, radical organizer, public conscience, and social gadfly. The second will consist of an open forum on "Consumerism, Corporations and Communities."

The production, which is playing at several other locations around the state, is sponsored by the American Jewish Congress under a grant from the New Jersey Committee for the Humanities. A multi-media monologue in Alinsky's typically fresh, often humorous style, it concerns the serious issues of social injustice which he dealt with between the 1930's and the 1960's.

A panel of community members will lead the discussion following the play. The panel will include professor of religion Malcolm L. Diamond, who has participated in civil rights activities, as one of the founders of the Princeton Association for Human Rights (PAHR); Barbara Sigmund, president of the Mercer County Board of Freeholders; and the Rev. John Walsh of the Southern Baptist Chaplaincy, activist in human rights both in the civil rights and in the anti-war movements.

Tickets are available for $2 at the door the night of the show, and-or on advance sale at the box office of Theatre Intime, Murray Dodge Hall Call 452-8181. .

STUART TO DO MYSTERY

With Two Endings. The cast for "The Night of January 16th," a courtroom mystery by Ayn Rand, has memorized two endings for the play, which will be presented on Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 at Stuart Country Day School. How the play ends at each performance will be a mystery to the players as well as the spectators, because the jury is selected from the audience, and it decides who is guilty.

The plot involves the murder of a wealthy businessman and the chaos that ensues upon his death. An assortment of surprising characters casts as much light upon his life as they do upon the murder. Their testimony leads the jury to a decision between two possible choices for murderer.

Stuart students appearing in major roles are Susan and Barbara Shorl of Princeton, Chris Curran of Yardley and Lynn Duffy of Lawrenceville. Mark Goebel and Christopher Gable, both from Lawrence High, take the male roles. The Program of Baroque Chamber Music Offered In Alexander By 'Festival Winds' Quintet

"Festival Winds" is a group of musicians based in New York City who play a variety of wind ensemble music from all stylistic periods. There is no set instrumentation for the group; that is determined by the particular music being played.

In the case of the concert presented at Alexander Hall on Sunday, April 20, the music played was a collection of works of the English, German and Italian Baroque styles. The instrumentation consisted of two oboes, trumpet, bassoon and harpsichord.

Two works in particular stood out in this concert, both in terms of the quality of the performance and of the music itself.

The first of these was a trio sonata for two oboes, bassoon and harpsichord by George Frederick Handel. One might well wonder why it is called a "trio" sonata when in actuality four instruments are used. The answer lies in the fact that the bassoon acts merely as a support to the other instruments, doubling the bass line of the harpsichord part. Thus it is not a truly independent part.

While it is true that the bassoon was often used as a continuo instrument in place of either a cello or a viol da gamba, it was a bit too heavy and thick in color in this performance, drawing attention to itself rather than lending the proper support to the oboes. A thinner, lighter sound might have been more appropriate.

The Concerto for trumpet, two oboes, bassoon and harpsichord of George Philipp Telemann, a contemporary of J.S. Bach, was another work worthy of note. The ensemble worked together well with this piece, bringing out its lightness of character, which seemed to please the audience.

The remainder of the program consisted of solo works for the harpsichord and several pieces for trumpet and continuo.

Instruments of Interest. A word should be said about the instruments used in this performance. The trumpeter, Edward Carroll, used two instruments during the course of the concert, one, a sopranino trumpet in G which had four valves, and a piccolo trumpet pitched in B flat. These horns produced a thinner, brighter sound than the standard trumpet, and enabled Mr. Carroll to play higher without straining.

The harpsichordist, Edward Brewer, used his own instrument, built in the style of the Flemish harpsichords by Martin Skowroneck. This instrument had a light tone which suited the many English and Italian pieces performed during the concert.

One could not help but feel that the oboists, Melvin Kaplan and Joel Timm, and possibly the bassoonist, Morris Newman, were by far the strongest musicians performing that afternoon. They had an authority to their playing which spoke of a confidence gained from years of performing.

Prior to each of the two pieces cited above, Mr. Kaplan described the nature of the music and helped put it into historical persepective. This was of great benefit to the audience, and gave the afternoon concert a relaxed feeling.

The harpsichordist, Mr. Brewer, and the trumpeter, Mr. Carroll, both had their share of problems and made some rather noticeable errors which marred the gentle ebb and flow of these structurally simple pieces. Mr. Brewer was somewhat heavy-handed and uneven in his rendition of three Scarlatti sonatas for solo harpsichord. Likewise, Mr. Carroll did not have the refined control needed for the lengthy passages of the Valentino Trumpet Sonata.

Judging from a brief conversation with Mr. Kaplan, Festival Winds is a diverse group of instrumentalists who play in a variety of musical styles. One could guess that future concerts by this organization might yield very different fruits.

HAYDN ORATORIO SET

For Alexander Hall Performance. A spring concert featuring Haydn's oratorio "The Creation" will be given by the Trinity Choir of Men, Boys and Girls on Sunday, May 4, at 8 at Alexander Hall.

Performed with orchestra and soloists, James Litton conducting, the benefit concert will help send the choir on its "Cathedrals '80" August tour in England, Holland and Germany where it has been invited to sing concerts as well as services. Soloists for the single performance are Anne Ackley, soprano (Gabriel), Douglas Perry, tenor (Uriel), David Arnold, baritone (Raphael), John Woodard, baritone (Adam), and Kathleen Tresham, soprano (Eve).

"The Creation," one of three oratorios composed by Haydn, was completed in 1798 following a visit to London when he was 66. The libretto was organized so that each day of Creation included recitatives (mainly biblical texts from Genesis); arias and ensembles (descriptive text from Milton's "Paradise Lost") and choruses (psalm paraphrases). The third part is a duet between Adam and Eve and the angelic chorus adds hymns of praise.

General admission tickets at $5 ($3 for students) are on sale at Trinity Church office, 33 Mercer street, at the Princeton Music Center on Palmer Square, at the Princetun University Store's check cashing window, and at Westminster Choir College's student center.

Sponsors for this benefit performance are still needed and may call 924-2277 for information. Sponsor tickets ($15 per person, $7.50 tax deductible) include luncheon noon on Saturday, May 3, at Trinity's Pierce Hall, with musical commentary on "The Creation" and a picture tour of cathedrals and churches where the choir will sing; preferred seating section in Alexander Hall; acknowledgement of support in the souvenir program; and a reception following the concert in Pierce Hall.

PRINTS BY SHOBAKEN

A Firestone Library. During the past two decades printmaking has evolved from a tradition-bound fine art medium to one that is often considered the most innovative. Before Stanley Hayter and a few other artists changed printmaking into a medium that allowed room for dramatic, occasionally radical, statements, the print was thought of as a formal, technically restrictive method of presenting subject matter.

When Hayter began experimenting with etching techniques at his Atelier 17 in Paris, he restructured, a medium that was centuries old. He changed the forms and the rules so that it became possible to use the etching plate to create unconventional, dynamic surfaces and intense tonal areas. This resulted in works that were the printmaker's equivalent of the surface excitement initiated by abstract expressionists using innovative applications of paint and color.

EAGLE OF KANE: One of several prints by Elizabeth Monath, based on African motifs. The collection is now on view at the Renaissance Gallery, Hopewell.

The use of color in printmaking was also altered by technical innovations. The most radical development was that of viscosity printing. This is a technique which can be explained easily to the chemist, but is much like practicing magic in terms of the way it has explanded the possibilities of the print.

Viscosity printmaking is a method in which several colors can be applied to a single printing plate at one time and still maintain their individual integrity. This is done by using inks that have different amounts of oil combined with the pigment. The difference in the viscosity of the various inks, and the sequence of application, causes the more viscous to repel the less viscous in the manner of oil and water. The color possibilities are further extended by using rollers of varying hardness to create different color areas on different levels of the printing plate.

Viscosity prints by Bruce Shobaken, on display at the Graphic Arts Collection of the Princeton University Library, illustrate the creative possibilities of this flexible furm of printmaking. They are presented in a manner which allows the viewer some insight into the complexities of this process. We are allowed a look at the metal plate, as well as several versions of many of the prints, so that we can understand the materials and color potential that are part of this method.

Shobaken studied with Hayter, and is now head of the School of Visual Art at Pennsylvania State University. The Hayter influence can be seen in the artist's technical expertise and in his ability to develop a plate that is rich in surface variety as well as form.

Shobaken uses nature forms as his subject matter. He renders his subjects in a manner that makes them appear to be abstractions but maintains the essence of the original form.

Branches, trees, rocks and other parts of the forest are developed with rich dark areas, strong movement, and fine use of space. The black and white versions hold up very well in combination with the more visually complex color expressions of the same works. We would wish for more technical information to accompany this excellent display.

At Western Electric. A Collection of watercolors by Natalie Best includes landscape and still life in a traditional mode. Barnegat Light, the Vermont countryside, beach scenes and studies of trees and flowers are rendered using representational imagery and realistic color.

There are a few landscapes included which seem to go beyond the ordinary in their presentation of the subject. "Edge of the Woods" and "Nestled in the Mountains" use wash creatively to build structure and to develop a spatial arrangement which demonstrates the artistic possibilities of both the subject and the artist.

At the Renaissance Gallery. An extensive collection of prints by Elizabeth Monath illustrates some of the possibilities of the collograph. This artist builds printing plates using cardboard, plastics, and natural forms, and then renders her images using multicolor printmaking techniques.

The current collection includes part of a series using Arican motifs, prints that are made using actual plant and flower material, and other, more complex, works that develop landscape as well as some that are in an oriental mode.

At Gallery 100. Spring flowers by Helen Gallagher and Trudy Klingensmith feature high color that goes beyond the season. Klingensmith develops larger-than-life portraits of cactus, flowering plants and greenery.

Although she maintains the literal image in some of these works, the color statements take them beyond the ordinary. A high-keyed palette worked around intense cool blues and greens creates a sense of drama that expands the nature of the subject.

Paintings by Helen Gallagher convert traditional still life into arrangements of broken color and form. Again, this artist maintains the essence of her subject but uses color and paint to create a surface that offers a rich variety of color and movement.

CALLIGRAPHY ON VIEW

At Art Museum. The Jeannette Shambaugh Elliott Collection of Chinese calligraphy and painting will be exhibited at the Princeton University Art Museum through September 14.

This major collection af 37 works from the Ming and Ch'ing periods has been given by Mrs. Elliott to the Princeton Art Museum so that it may be made widely available to scholars and the general public. The present exhibition, with its accompanying catalogue, is intended as a step toward that end.

Included in the callection are hanging scrolls, handscrolls, album leaves, and fans, all of which are superb examples of the various calligraphic styles. Well-known masters, such as Kao Feng-han, Ch'en Shun, Wang Wen, Fu Shan, and Ho Shao-chi, are represented along with less-known artists whose works were selected for the collection in order that the full range of writing styles be illustrated. A number of works by men not widely known as calligrapher-artists are among the small gems of the collection, such as a gold fan inscribed by Li Meng-yang. The earliest work is from the 14th century, and the latest from the 20th.

In building the collection, Mrs. Elliott drew advice from scholars and curatars, including Prof. Richard M. Barnhart, now at Yale but formerly of Princeton, who has written an essay on the Elliott Collection for the catalogue. The fully illustrated catalogue, which is a special issue of the museum's semiannual bulletin, is available from the museum for $3.50.

The Art Museum is open Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 to 4, Sundays from 1 to 5. The museum is closed Mondays and major holidays.

Compton Cup Regatta Here Saturday Morning; Tigers Beat Penn, Columbia for Childs Cup

The second -- and last -- of the major regatta days on Lake Carnegie will take place Saturday. It will be the only action here for sports-minded spectators, and it is worth noting for those so inclined that the primary race of interest will be staged in the morning rather than the afternoon.

The annual competition for the Compton Cup, involving Harvard, MIT and Princeton, will be held Saturday morning at 11:30. The ante meridiem hour has been planned to enable the visitors from Cambridge to make an early return home, thus returning the favor extended when Princeton rows on the Charles.

Rutgers, not eligible for the trophy, and not likely to finish near either the favored Crimson or the Tigers, will be an added starter. There will be five races in all, beginning with the second freshmen and including the third varsity, freshmen and junior varsity before the principal event. All will cover 2,000 meters.

Although it has been 23 years since Princeton last won the Compton Cup, the Tigers have a shot at it in view of their clear-cut triumph last Saturday over Penn and Columbia, a victory which gave them the Child Cup for the first time in three years. Their time in that event was 5:46.2, indicative of good power but a performance which was also enhanced by a welcome tail wind.

Winner by Over a Length. The Orange and Black-tipped oars brought their shell across the finish line better than a length ahead of Pennsylvania, which has long fielded one of the better crews in the east. The Tigers' margin on the clock was 5.8 seconds.

Columbia, regularly the poor cousin in this sport, was six lengths back. The Lions' shell encountered mechanical difficulties with the no. 3 seat after 1,500 meters had been rowed, and only seven oars could pull the remaining distance.

Princeton's 150-lb. crew defeated Cornell here Saturday, edging the Red by just over half a length. It was a noteworthy triumph, because Cornell had previously beaten Harvard, which is more often than not the top college among the lightweight oarsmen. The day was a highly successful one for the Tiger "navy," as all 150-lb. boats won, as did all the heavyweights except the freshmen, which lost by six feet to Pennsylvania.

The afternoon regatta on Carnegie Saturday will involve Penn and Princeton, with the Tigers expected to win handily. The varsity race at 4:30 will be preceded by four others, starting at 3:30 and proceeding at 15-minute intervals.

Ball Team in Trouble. The one thing it had going for it this spring -- pitching -- deserted the Princeton baseball team in three Eastern League games last week as Tiger hurlers yielded 21 runs in 20 innings. As a result, games were lost to Harvard, 6-5, and to Dartmouth, 7-6, before the Green was beaten in the second game of a doubleheader at Hanover, 12 to 8.

At Cambridge on Friday, first-place Harvard won its sixth league game without a defeat when it topped the Orange and Black, on a run in the last of the seventh. Mark Lockenmeyer lost another close decision to drop his record this season to 3-2.

A four-run rally in the sixth brought the home team from behind and gave it a 5-2 lead. Princeton edged back with a run in the seventh and then tied the score at 5 in the top of the eighth. Tom Hagerstrom led off with a single, John Corelli walked, Paul Steinhauser bunted them along and Lockenmeyer drove them in with a two-base hit. That was all the Princeton scoring, however, and the capable Crimson pried a final run away from Lockenmeyer in its half of the round.

The first game at Hanover, tied at 6 when Dartmouth came to bat in the final inning, was lost when John Corelli misjudged a fly to left for a two-base error. The runner moved up on a wild pitch and scored on a two-out single. Sophomore Bob Holly started, Chris Cascia took the loss in relief.

Corelli's bat helped win the second game, in which Mike Jody won in relief after freshman Steve Kordish had departed. The Green had a 6-3 lead with only three innings left but Corelli paced a four-run rally that forged an evenbreak for the victors.

On a bone-chilling afternoon earlier in the week, when there were more spectators (about a dozen) watching from their cars behind the right-field fence than there were people in the stands, Princeton and Manhattan somehow lasted through nine innings. If you win, 16-0, maybe it isn't that cold, but for the losing New Yorkers, who must have set a record of some sort by making more than twice as many errors as they did hits -- 7 to 3 -- the only comfort came from a hot shower.

Senior Jon Baker, who hadn't started a game for Princeton in two years, worked the first six innings, Mike Judy and Chris Cascia finishing up. The shut out was the fourth recorded by the Tigers this year, and it dropped the team ERA to 1:45, but Harvard and Dartmouth returned it to a more likely level.

Five runs in the second and six in the seventh were the big innings for Princeton, which collected 17 hits and was charged with only two errors despite the wretched weather. The Manhattan shortstop was guilty of five, a negative performance of proportions unmatched through decades of baseball at Princeton.

Three more Eastern League games are on the weekend schedule, a single contest Friday in New York with Columbia and two games in Philadelphia Saturday against Penn. The race has been narrowed to a two-team affair between Harvard and Cornell, although others with no more than three losses are still within mathematical hailing distance.

In non-league games, Princeton will play on Clarke Field this Wednesday against a strong team from Temple and will face Long Island University Thursday. Rutgers, which the Tigers have already beaten once, will be here Monday and Rider moves up from Lawrenceville the following afternoon. All mid-week games begin at 3.

Lacrosse Team Loses Lead. A 3-0 advantage which Princeton's lacrosse team took over Brown in the early going at Providence Saturday vanished before the end of the half. It was 4-3 for the Tigers after one quarter and 7-7 after two.

The home team then broke the game open on the strength of four unanswered goals by Angelo Lobosco, recording its third straight over Princeton 16 to 10. Dave Heubeck, with a goal and five assists, needs

Has any pitcher ever thrown both right-handed AND left-handed in a big league baseball game? ... It's happened just once in major league history ... Oldtime pitcher Tony Mullane threw right-handed to righty batters, and left handed to lefty batters in several games ... Other pitchers through the years have said they could pitch with either hand, but Mullane is the only one who's ever done it so far in a big league game.

I bet you didn't know ... that Mortgage insurance is the least expensive of all life insurance. Is your mortgage insured? Who would continue the payments if you died?

Here's one hard to believe ... Did you know that more people get hurt by falling in their homes than by taking part in all the toughest and most dangerous sports ... That seems hard to accept, but a national insurance company made a 5-year study, and they report that in those 5 years more people got hurt at home than those who participated in ALL SPORTS COMBINED including football, skiing, boating, hunting and all the rest.

New Jersey Lacrosse Club, Now Headquartered in Princeton, Will Face Leading Eastern Teams Here on Sunday Afternoons

They are a diverse group. Investment banker, broker, medical student, salesman, coach, horse breeder, representative for multi-national corporation, administrator, surgeon. They live in the Princeton area and elsewhere in New Jersey; a few in New York.

They are the New Jersey Lacrosse Club, quite possibly one of the best of the 30 such clubs in the eastern United States.

Lacrosse followers can see them in action Sunday at 2 when they play the Long Island Lacrosse Blue on Finney Field, east of Palmer Stadium.

How good is Long Island? Rutgers, which has a solid team this year, created a stir when the Scarlet Knights defeated Maryland, a perennial lacrosse power. Long Island shut out the Knights, 15-0.

They're No. 1. "In a word," says Kirk Unruh, New Jersey Lacrosse Club coach, "they're loaded. No other team in the country -- college or club -- can compare with them man for man."

That the New Jersey team feels it has a chance against Long Island is testimony to its own high standing. On successive Sundays, May 4 and 11 it will play the New York Club and the Fairfield (Conn.) Club here before finishing the remainder of its nine-game regular season away. Those who attend will see lacrosse played on the highest level anywhere in the country.

The New Jersey Lacrosse Club was reconstituted two years ago, "I think it was reconstituted for the better," says Unruh. The skill level is higher, he said. An attempt was made to attract first-rate players and, indeed, virtually every one on the team has an All-American, All-Ivy, or most valuable player tag earned playing college lacrosse.

"We have twin goals -- having fun and winning -- and I think they are compatible," commented Unruh. There is no professional lacrosse, he pointed out. "In essence, we are the last bastion of true amateur sports." Lacrosse, incidentally, is one of two native American sports. The other is basketball.

The club's optimism was not shared by "In The Crease," a magazine that rates lacrosse clubs and had the New Jersey team in eighth place in its national rankings. In its own five-team northern division, New Jersey was picked to finish last behind Long Island, ranked first; Miller Lacrosse Club, New York and Huntington.

However, the New Jersey Club raised some eyebrows when it defeated Miller, 13-10, in Ithaca last week on five goals by Peter Hollis, three coming in the final period. John Meister had four goals, Peter Von Hoffman three and Steve Page one. Miller had been ranked second in the division and fourth in the country. The victory was the second against no losses for New Jersey this season -- it had defeated the Pennsylvania Lacrosse Club, 16-7, in its opener.

The New Jersey Lacrosse Club raised its record to 3-0 with a 22 to 5 victory Sunday over the Chester River Lacrosse Club of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. The game was played in Easton, Md. John Meister scored six goals and an assist and Peter Hollis had four goals and five assists for the victors.

Whereas the Miller Club comprised mainly of upstate New York residents who played lacrosse at Cornell, Hobart and Syracuse, is sponsored by the Miller Brewing Company, which has donated $12,000 to the team's operation, the New Jersey Club is a dues-paying organization. Members buy their own uniforms. "We're looking for a sponsor; it would be nice to have greater revenue," said Unruh.

3 Meisters on Team. Defenseman Rich Meister of Princeton Junction, an All-American and All-Ivy player at Brown, is, at 27, the oldest active player on the team. Described by Unruh as one of the prime movers of the club, he is one of three Meister Brothers on the team -- all graduates of Brown.

Middy Steve Meister, 25, was All-Ivy, while John Meister, 23, a 6-0, 185-pound attackman, was also All-Ivy and honorable All-American.

The oldest player is middy Dick Fleming, Princeton University '68, an orthopedic surgeon. He serves as combination team doctor and player.

The 32-year-old Unruh, Princeton '70, presently Regional Director of Admission for the University, is in his second year as coach. He was captain of the Princeton University freshman team and then spent the next three years as an attackman on the Tiger varsity, earning All-Ivy mention. He was away from the sport the five years he spent as a naval officer at Pearl Harbor, but he joined the Brine Lacrosse Club as a graduate student at Harvard.

Before attending Princeton, he played lacrosse at St. Paul's in Brooklynville, Md. A small school, he said, but one that produced a number of All-American players far out of proportion for its size.

Lacrosse Clinic Sunday

A free, teaching-demonstration type lacrosse clinic for youngsters will be held from noon to t by members of the New Jersey Lacrosse Club before its game Sunday with Long Island.

All Princeton area youngsters are invited to bring their sticks and gloves and take part in demonstrations on shooting, riding, feeding and goalie play. There will be no contact.

"Most clinics are not run in season," said Coach Kirk Unruh. "This will give youngsters around here a chance to learn more about the game from those who know it well."

Because of the demands of the members jobs and scattered residential locations, club practices have to be limited to weekends. "The players are, however, so savvy you can accomplish a great deal in a short time, said Unruh. "We can concentrate on plays and patterns -- and to have them understand it from the start makes my job easy. We don't have to worry about basic stick play." Unruh is assisted by Bob Malekoff, assistant lacrosse coach at Princeton. Unruh also cited the support of Princeton University officials -- head coach Mike Hanna, Director of Athletics, Bob Myslik and assistant director Sam Howell for permitting the team to play and practice here.

Team Roster. There are two All-Americans on the starting attack: Peter Hollis, a Penn graduate (his brother Paul is on the Princeton University team) and Peter Von Hoffman of Bucknell, who many call "the" offensive player in the game," says Unruh. Von Hoffman is a two-time high school and two-time college All-American.

At midfield is Michael Page, former Penn All-American, a highly-regarded player who previously was with the Long Island Club. Brother Steve Page played for one of the great undefeated Cornell teams and "possesses incredible stick skills," said Unruh.

Goalie John Griffin, Cornell '79, was Player of the Year in the Ivy League last spring. His backup, Peter Zonino, Ohio Wesleyan '79, was an honorable mention All-American.

The outstanding defenseman on the team is Chuck Apel, three time (1975-77) All-American at Rutgers. (He, Hollis and Griffin were awarded game balls after the Miller victory.) Greg Raschdorff, Cornell '79, was All Ivy on defense. A Plainsboro resident, he is manager of the Conference Center at ETS.

Others playing attack include Princeton resident Jay Budd, a former Lawrenceville School standout and law school student. Rich Schwartz and John Meister.

Other middies include Riley McDonald from Cornell, Mike Butkus, 6-3, 195-pound Princeton alumnus who also played football for the Tigers; Wayne Meichner, Cornell '79; Craig Messinger, All Ivy, at Penn; Wayne Meichner, Cornell '79; Craig Messinger, All Ivy at Penn; David Varrelman, best all-round player at Lehigh in 1977; Jay Howell, Gettysburg '77, All-American mention; and Andy Pettit.

Others on defense are Brian Kingston, Ohio Wesleyan, All Midwest and All-American; Tim Weidenhamer, Farleigh Dickinson, honorable mention All-American; Glenn Wilkinson, Hofstra '77; Bob Mongeluzzi, Penn. All-Ivy honorable mention; Rich Prakopcyk, Rutgers '79, and Sam Carpenter, All-New England at Middlebury '77 and an assistant to Princeton University coach Mike Hanna.

Tigers' One Day of Spring Football Practice Will Bring Turnout of More Than 100 Sunday

More than 100 candidates for the 1980 Princeton football team will report to Coach Frank Navarro and his staff Sunday for several hours of testing and drills. Ivy League rules permit its eight members to have a single day of spring practice.

Navarro, now in his third year at the Princeton helm, has 32 letterwinners returning from last year's 5-4 team, the first winning contingent at Princeton since 1970, while 14 letterwinners will be lost through graduation. Seventeen letterwinners, including seven starters, return to the offensive unit, headed by the backfield combination of Cris Crissy and Larry Van Pelt.

Crissy, who has led the Tigers in rushing each of the past two seasons, already ranks tenth among Princeton's career leaders, with 1,253 yards. A solid year this fall could make him the third Tiger back to top 2,000 yards rushing. Van Pelt, the only sophomore in the Ivy League last year to gain first team All-League honors, led the squad in scoring (42 points) and all-purpose yardage (1,196), while finishing second to Crissy in rushing with 550 yards.

The defense returns 15 letter winners, including seven who started through most of the campaign. The defensive line, with Paul Van Pelt at end, Steve Hart at tackle, and Bob McNulty at middle guard, appears especially solid. John Kistler is a two-year starter returning at cornerback.

"We really don't do too much," Navarro says of the one-day camp. "Basically, the practice is devoted to timing and testing the players to see if they have improved as a result of the off-season weight and agilities programs.

"These performances then become the gauge for comparison when everyone returns to pre-season camp in late August. It's good because it brings the team together for a few hours and gets them to think about the fall season."

Princeton will open preseason camp on August 30 and the season on September 20 at Cornell only 13 points in the next six games to break the career scoring record held by Wick Sollers '77.

Penn will be on Finney Field this Wednesday at 3 for a make-up of the game that was postponed by heavy rain two weeks ago. The Orange and Black will head for Cambridge Saturday, where unbeaten Harvard will win its first Ivy title in the sport if it prevails as expected.

Tennis Team Now 6-3. A 9-0 victory over Navy, which has lost all 30 matches over the years to Princeton, raised the tennis team's record to 6-3 and kept it unbeaten (3-0) in the Eastern League. Princeton residents Jay Lapidus and Flip Ruben, No. 1 and No. 6, each lost only one game in their two-set triumphs.

Clemson will be on the University Courts this Wednesday at 3 and South Carolina Sunday at 2. Matches away are scheduled with Columbia Friday and Penn Saturday.

PDS BEATS PINGRY

After Princeton High Loss. Princeton Day lacrosse coach Bob Krueger is hoping last Friday's game against Pingry may be a turning point for his players and the rest of the season.

After dropping an 8-4 contest to Princeton High the previous Wednesday, and "playing as poorly as we can play" in Krueger's words, the Panthers came up with a much improved effort against Pingry on their way to a 10-6 triumph. "Maybe now the players have realized what has to be done to be a decent team," Krueger observed this week. Pingry was the first "A" division team PDS has beaten.

The Blue and White will have two chances to demonstrate if it has really learned its lesson, with games against a couple of "B" division schools this week. This Wednesday PDS will meet Montville in an away contest, and Friday Delbarton will visit the Great Road campus for the Panthers' first home game of the season.

If Princeton Day continues to play well, it should be able to win both games. The Panthers are 1-2 in their "A" division after the victory over Pingry.

Pingry opened the scoring to take a brief 1-0 lead, but the Panthers responded with a 3-goal flurry, two by Billy Ross and one by Phil Ferrante. The home team managed to draw even at 3-3, but another three-goal barrage, put PDS ahead to stay. Neil Monroe, back at full strength after his shoulder injury, Tom von Oehsen and Ferrante tallied this time around, and PDS led 6-4 at the half.

After the intermission, the losers could come no closer than two, as Tim Murdoch, Joe Warren, Kevin Johnson and von Oehsen scored for PDS. von Oehsen had five assists in addition to his two goals.

Normally a game against Princeton High is guaranteed to stir up the PDS players, but they didn't act like they wanted to win this one. "We stood around all day on offense," Krueger noted. Against Pingry two days later, the Panthers moved very well away from the ball, running circles around the Pingry defenders.

Defensive lapses also hurt PDS in the high school contest. With the teams tied at 1-1, Princeton High was handed a gift goal, and quickly went on to score three more in the second period. PDS was never able to recover.

The Panthers closed to within 6-4 in the fourth period, but the Little Tigers tallied twice more in the closing minutes. Penalties definitely hurt the Blue and White; the victors scored on at least three man-up situations.

Kevin Johnson, the one bright light for PDS, according to Krueger, had two of the four goals. John Drezner got another on a pretty solo effort, and von Oehsen, the fourth.

PHS NINE WINS TWO

Tied for CVC Lead. The Princeton High School baseball team batted and ran its way to a pair of victories last week, raising its record to 4-3.

The Little Tigers used an eight-hit, six-run fifth inning to subdue visiting Hightstown, 10-1, Thursday in Colonial Valley Conference league win, and Mark Adams, Frank Whittaker and Dan Miller each drove in two runs in a 7-1 victory over winless Marie Katzenbach School for the Deaf the previous day. Whittaker was the winning pitcher against MKSD.

The team's batting average is a lusty .324 and with coach Jim O'Neill flashing the green light with men on base, the Little Tigers have stolen 25 bases in 29 attempts.

In its first game of the week, PHS was blanked, 1-0, by Lawrence despite a sparkling two-hitter by Peter Krasnoff. The league loss left PHS tied with Lawrence in the CVC with 3-1 records. Notre Dame is a half-game behind at 2-1.

The Little Tigers will oppose McCorristin away Thursday and then play host to West Windsor at 3:45 on Monday. Both are league games. It will be at Montgomery on Tuesday.

"It's going to be a tight race and its good for us to be in that race," said O'Neill. "We're not playing at a level of consistency that should be a characteristic of our club.

"It's hard to pin point why. We seem to let up too much. We don't take charge." Against Hightstown, however, where PHS rapped out 11 hits, O'Neill said that he saw "a little more assertiveness than he's seen before."

In that game, Ram coach John Wagner, trailing 4-1, brought in reliefer Scott Weber to start the fifth. Judd Petrone, pitching for PHS, lined his first pitch down the left line for a double. One out later, Whittaker singled home Petrone with a shot past third, John Kandell singled. Acting on his own, Dan Miller then crossed up the Ram defense with a perfectly - executed drag bunt that loaded the bases.

John Tevebaugh lined the first pitch between second and third but two good relay throws nailed Kandell at the plate. Mark Adams, batting 609 and 8-for-8 in stolen bases, singled home a run on a hit off the third baseman's glove. Sophomore Kevin Phox, batting .388, sent home another run with a single up the middle. Brent Robinson, hitting the ball at a .364 clip leading the club in RBIs with 10, drilled Weber's first pitch to right center, scoring Adams and Phox. Exit Weber.

Petrone, up for the second time in the inning, struck out to end it. Petrone (2-1) got the win.

In the previous inning, PHS combined a Kandell single, walk, bunt, Adams's single, two stolen bases, and a sacrifice fly for three runs. Robinson connected again, unloading a double to deep center but was out trying to stretch it to a triple.

Krasnoff: Career Best. O'Neill labeled Krasnoff's two-hit, seven-strikout performance against Lawrence "the best job in his high school career. It was a terrible thing we couldn't get him some runs." In the six innings he pitched, Krasnoff used only 74 pitches.

The game's only run came in the fifth when Cardinal batter Ken Ericson reached first on an error and came home on Bob Spiegel's triple. Spiegel's high fly ball held up and carried by a wind blowing across from third to first dropped in for a hit.

Cardinal pitcher Ken Krepp limited PHS to five hits, fanned six and walked none in earning his second win. PHS left five stranded and had one thrown out at the plate -- "something that's happened to us more than I like," commented O'Neill on the play at home.

BENEFIT GAME FRIDAY

Donkey Basketball Scheduled. Donkey Basketball will return to the Princeton High School gym on Friday evening at 8. A near sell-out crowd witnessed the event a year ago, and the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation will sponsor it again.

Members of the Class of 1980, mounted on donkeys, will challenge opponents from the Class of '81 in the opening game. The winners will take on a team of faculty riders in the second event.

Advance tickets at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 are on sale at Hulit's on Nassau Street and at Punchinello in the Princeton Shopping Center, as well as from Princeton High School students. Tickets will be sold at the door for $3 and $2, respectively. All profits will benefit the Regional Scholarship Foundation.

TEACHING PRO ADDED

To Tennis Staff. The Princeton Community Tennis Program announced this week that Martin Goldberg has joined its teaching staff for spring classes now in progress.

Goldberg, a professional tennis instructor, has returned from a six-month teaching assignment in Hong Kong where he represented the United States Tennis Association. An All-American player for two years, he was captain of the Williams College team his senior year and its number one player for four years.

Goldberg will teach the Program's advanced class on Wednesday morning from 9 to 10:30 for the remainder of the spring season. In addition, he is available for private lessons. Those interested in taking private lessnns should call him at 896-2580 or 924-4343.

Ron Dennis

PRECEDENT SET

Blackwell Trophy to Freshman. For the first time in the 46 years since it was first awarded in 1934, the Blackwell Memorial Trophy has been won by a member of the freshman class. At the annual hockey banquet Saturday for members of the 1979-80 team, Ron Dennis, the Tigers' outstanding goalie, was presented with the plaque for "outstanding play, sportsmanship and influence."

Dennis was instrumental in Princeton's ability to rise to second place in the Ivy League -- just a point behind champion Dartmouth -- for its best finish since 1953. He also won the Hobey Baker Trophy as the outstanding freshman on the team.

The Richard Vaughan Cup was awarded to Peter Delorey, who set a career record for number of assists by a defenseman. The cup is given for "perserverance and dedication" to Princeton hockey.

The Tigers will be led next winter by three captains, also a Princeton first. Drew Forbes, a co-captain this year with Pete Delorey, who is the only senior on the team, was re-elected. Named with him were junior Jim Farrell and sophomore Ray Casey.

PHS MONDAY SPORTS

Lacrosse Team Routed. Scoring five goals in the first five minutes, Lawrenceville School's once-defeated lacrosse team went on to romp over previously unbeaten Princeton here Monday. The final tally was 18-5.

"It's been more than five years since any team has scored 18 goals against one of my teams," said PHS coach Bill Cirullo. "In every part of the game, we were two steps behind. Lawrenceville was more aggressive, faster, better disciplined. They deserved everything they got."

By halftime, the margin had mounted to 10-1. "We didn't realize it then but it was gone. There was no way we could come back, not the way Lawrenceville was playing," commented Cirullo.

Steve McDonald's two goals led PHS. Chris Harford and Steve Budd, who have been producing goals for the Little Tigers, were held to two shots each. "I expect 15 to 20 from them" said Cirullo.

"We've just got to write this off," he added. "We could labor on this one for the next six weeks, peel it apart. But what's the sense of that? We just have to forget it."

PHS Nine Loses. Monday was also a bad day for the PHS baseball team which dropped a 5-3 decision to Allentown.

The Redbirds' big inning was the fourth when Bob Flock and Marshall Provost each singled home a pair of runs to make a loser of PHS starter Peter Krasnoff.

Allentown's Ed Kowalski held the hard-hitting PHS club to five hits and fanned six. Mark Adams, Brent Robinson, Kevin Phox, John Tevehaugh and Leroy Hunninghake hit safely for the losers. Princeton's record fell to 4-4 while Allentown evened its at 3-3.

Girls win, 11-4. The PHS girls softball team won its third in four starts with an 11-4 victory Monday over Allentown. Ann Almgren was the winning pitcher.

Missy McCloskey doubled and drove in two runs for the Little Tigers, Sallie Toscano had three singles and Sue Mooney homered for the victors. PHS catcher Claire Callahan also drove in a pair of runs.

HUN STRING ENDED

Record Now 5-2. The Hun School baseball team scraped through probably the toughest week on its schedule, although probably not as well as coach Bill McQuade would have liked.

The Raiders sandwiched a 4-3 victory over Ewing between two losses, a 4-3, extra inning setback to Lawrenceville Saturday and a 7-2 loss to Hamilton earlier in the week, its first after a 4-0 start.

Ahead lay games with Academy of New Church this Wednesday, Delbarton Friday and Newark Academy at home Saturday at 11. None is the caliber of Lawrenceville but McQuade says he wants to do well against Delbarton and Newark, both league contests, to get a decent seeding in the playoffs starting the second week in May.

Hun looked as if it had unbeaten Lawrenceville (7-0) in its pocket when it took a 3-0 lead in the fourth on Keith Greener's three-run homer. But Hun, uncharacteristically, misplayed some balls hit to the outfield, allowing an unearned run in the fourth.

An infield error led to another unearned run in the sixth and Lawrenceville tied it in the seventh. The winning run in the eighth was also unearned. A wild pitch by Anthony Bevilacqua sent home Sean Pender who had walked and advanced on an error and a sacrifice bunt.

"When you make mistakes on routine plays, those are the ones that hurt the most," said McQuade. "They just shouldn't have happened." Kevin Kunkel held Hun to four hits and struck out nine to get his second win. Bevilacqua was touched for five hits in taking his second loss against one win.

Barbero Wins Second. Angelo Barbero, making only his second varsity start, picked up his second win by edging Ewing, 4-3. "He was in trouble in the end in the last few innings but he gutted it out all the way," said McQuade.

Hun collected only four hits off Ewing hurler Tom Messina but it had the good fortune to bunch them in the fifth inning when it scored all its runs. Tommy Zahn drove in two runs with a triple and Bevilacqua singled home the winning run.

Against Hamilton, Hun, fresh from its 22-0 win over Princeton High, started pounidng the ball again in the opening inning. Greener belted a triple, scoring Bevilacqua who had walked, and Barbero singled home Greener.

Hamilton, however, came right back with three runs off Bevilacqua and coasted to its win. Three of its seven runs were unearned. "You can't make mistakes and beat the good clubs," said McQuade.

After yielding three hits in the first, Hornet pitcher Jon Iorio gave up only one more to Hun the rest of the game. The victors raked Bevilacqua for 12.

PHS TO BE TESTED

By Columbia in Lacrosse. Off to a 3-0 start, all league wins following 8-3 and 8-4 victories over Peddie and Princeton Day School last week, the Princeton High School lacrosse team will face its stiffest challenge of the season on Saturday.

The Little Tigers, ranked fifth in the state off their fast start, will play number one ranked Columbia Saturday morning at 10:30 at Maplewood.

PHS coach Bill Cirullo says that he isn't quite sure how strong his team is despite the two easy wins because neither Peddie nor PDS, he felt, were as strong as in previous years.

Against Peddie, Alex Versfeld, Steve Budd and Ian Broadwater each scored two goals while Sean Cavanaugh and Chris Gabrielsen added one apiece. Gabrielsen's goal was one of the rare ones scored by a defenseman. "He went down field, cleared the ball, kept on going when no one picked him up, took a shot and scored," said Cirullo.

The key, he said, was Princeton winning 12 of 15 faceoffs. "Anytime you take 80 percent of the faceoffs, you'll have a good day," he remarked.

PHS outshot Peddie, 28-11, the losers taking only three shots in the second half. "That has something to say about the defense we play," said Cirullo.

PHS Goalie Cited. Cirullo cited goalie Mark Miller for his play in both games. "He's done a nice job in the cage; I haven't seen anybody better this year. He's made some super saves and he's done pretty well outside the cage in clearing the ball."

Three goals by Broadway, two each by Chris Harford and Budd and one by Jimmy Cantrill -- his first -- were more than Princeton Day School could match.

"We had a few trying moments but I really don't think they posted a real threat," commented Cirullo of the Panthers. "Once we got ahead they didn't have the stickwork to come back."

PHS led, 4-1, at the half but PDS narrowed the gap to 6-4 before the Little Tigers scored the final two goals.

TOURNAMENT WON

As Springdale Season Opens. The traditional Scramblers Tournament which marks the opening of the season at Springdale Golf Club was won Saturday by a foursome composed of Howard Maher, Bud Allaire, Joe Martin and Mike Myers. Playing on a best ball of foursome basis, they shot a six-under-par 65.

The other foursomes tied at 66. One was composed of Walter Hankin, Sr., Charlie Hurford, Oliver Houghton and Ted Kopp; the other of Craig Davis, Chris Heins, Charlie Foster and Bill Lieberman.

Scores of 67 earned a fourth-place tie. One was credited to Jim Litvack, Bob McCarthy, Bill Crothers and Charlie McManus. Also carding a 67 were John Brophy, Dick Bradley, Art Sheeran and George Brown.

PHS DOUBLE WINNER

In Lawrenceville Relays. In the annual Lawrenceville Relays held last week, Princeton High captured two of the 13 events.

There is no team championship involved; the top athletes in each event from each school compete as "teams."

PHS won the long jump when Paul Miles leaped 21-6½, teaming with freshman Stephan Fletcher, who jumped 19-1, for a winning 40'7½. Trenton High, which won the unofficial team title with four firsts, was second with 38-8, and Ewing third with 38-1½.

The Little Tigers' other first first came in the high jump. Peter Sharpless, the area's top performer in this event, jumped 6-7 and teammate Larry McKellar leaped 5-8 for a combined 12-3 mark. Hopewell Valley was second at 12-0.

Trenton High won the 400 and 800 meter races -- upsetting favored Ewing -- and also captured the sprint medley and two mile relay to dominate this year's event.

Host Lawrenceville, Steinert and Hamilton also won two events each. Ewing was limited to one. In the distance medley, Lawrenceville just edged PHS, 10.49.3 to 10.50.8.

Lawrence Routed. The previous day, coach Marc Anderson's Little Tigers won their first dual meet with a 92-39 romp over Lawrence.

Miles was a triple winner, taking the 100 and 200 meter dashes and the long jump. John Perkins won the 400, John Kellogg the 800 and Tom Patrick the 1,500 meter run.

PHS swept every running event as the Cardinals' only wins came in the shot and discuss – both won by Adam Bethea – and the javelin and pole vault.

Wayne Davis of PHS won the 110 hurdles as teammate Stephan Fletcher was second with the same clocking of 16.6. Sharpless and McKellar were 1-2 in the high jump again with leaps of 6-0 and 5-8.

REGISTRATION SET

For Little League Baseball. Little League baseball, under the auspices of the Princeton Youth Association, has announced its 1980 registration dates.

The program for boys and girls, 9 to 12, will have registration Sunday, May 4, and Saturday, May 10, from 12:30 to 3 at Grover Field. At both sessions, boys and girls will have an opportunity to run the bases, catch and throw. Players who participated last year on a team do not need to register again.

The registration fee is $10 which will include a team picture. Each applicant must provide a copy of his or her birth certificate at registration. To be eligible, a player must be 9 years old and not 13 by August 1, 1980.

Checks will be accepted and should be made payable to Princeton Youth Baseball Association or P.Y.B.A. After registration, each player will be placed on a team.

The 14-game season will begin Monday, June 2. Games will be played on Mondays and Thursdays at 6 at the Community Park fields. The season ends July 21.

All teams are sponsored by Princeton area organizations or merchants. For further information, call John Dumont, 924-9247, or Clark Lennon, 924-7242.

Softball Meeting Thursday

There will be a meeting of women's softball managers Thursday eveniog at 7:30 in the Princeton Recreation office. Time rosters and fees for the season will be due.

This year's season will begin May 12 and run Mondays and Wednesdays during May, and Wednesdays during June and July. All games start at 6:15 on the Community Park Fields.

Those 18 and older interested in playing should call the recreation department at 921-9480.

PHS GIRLS ARE 2-1

In Softball. The Princeton High School girls softball team, coached by Fred Carman, has won two of its first three games.

The Little Tigers routed Lawrence 16-1, in their opener behind pitcher Ann Almgren, who held the Cardinals to three hits. Doubles by Claire Callahan and Cathy "Boo" Rice paced a 14-hit PHS attack. Sallie Toscano and Nancy Peske combined for five singles, driving in five runs. PHS sent eight runs across in the fourth.

The next day, second baseman Missy McCloskey connected for a homer, triple and two singles, driving in six runs, in a 16-8 victory over Ewing. Toscano, the Little Tiger shortstop, also had a good day, driving home four runs. Her five singles were among 18 PHS hits. Sue Mooney and Sue Edelman each stroked three singles for the Blue and White.

On Thursday, PHS saw its Colonial Valley Conference record fall to 1-1, following its first loss, a 10-3 setback at the hands of visiting Hightstown. Rice had a triple and two RBIs for the losers. Almgren (2-1) was charged with the loss.

MAY 3 IS DATE

For Junior Olympics. The Princeton Recreation Department will hold its annual A.A.U. Junior Olympic Track Meet Saturday, May 3, beginning at 9 on the Princeton High School track. Registration will be the morning of the meet.

All events are broken into three age categories; 9 and under, 10-11 and 12-13. Included are dashes, long distance running and field events. Winners in each category will advance to the sectional championships. The meet will run until approximately 2:30. In case of rain, it will be held the following day, beginning at 1.

PDS STILL LOOKING

For First Baseball Win. Princeton Day baseball coach Tom DeVito Knew this was going to be tough year for his young and largely inexperienced team, but he could not have foreseen all the problems that would arise.

Promising rallies fade away to just one run, because of poor base running or strikeouts at key moments, good pitching is wasted by mental lapses and atrocious errors in the field.

Such was the case in the Panthers only game last week, a 7-3 loss to Delbarton, putting them at 0-5 for the spring. Two more away contests are on tap for this week, Pennington this Wednesday and Pingry on Friday.

As in past defeats, the Blue and White managed to scratch out enough runs to give itself a 3-2 lead into the fourth inning. Peter Bordes walked in the first inning, but was forced at second by Will Eglin. He stole second, but broke his ankle on the slide and was replaced by Rick Ramsey.

Ramsey stole third and came home when the catcher threw the ball into left field. In the third, Bordes doubled and Freda and Jamie Bartolomei walked. Tony Dell singled home one run and Bob Leahy walked to force in another, but the next two batters struck out.

Delbarton, meanwhile, got single tallies in the second and third, and then took the lead with two more in the fourth. There might have been more, but the Panthers managed to pull off a roundabout triple play on a grounder back to Dell on the mound with the bases loaded.

He threw to home for one out, Leahy threw to first for the second, and Bartolomei threw back to the plate to catch the Delbarton runner trying to score from second.

Behind now, 4-3, Princeton Day got another rally going in the fifth, when it loaded the bases with none out on a single by Dell and walks to Leahy and Gary Hatke. But Newell Thompson hit into a double play and Vince Pocino took a called third strike.

In the bottom half of the fifth, the Panthers' fielding collapsed, and the winners were handed three unearned insurance runs on three errors. Only three of Delbarton's seven runs were earned off starter Jeff Freda who lasted three innings before Dell relieved him in the fourth.
